Our City Comment & discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

Eagle Rock Finds All Is Not Gold That Glitters—In L. A.

THE city of Eagle Rock is experiencing considerable trouble over the school situation, as regards both the grammar and high school.

Word now comes that the $92,000 bonds which were carried three to one in the early part of the year have been declared invalid, the reason given being on account of the annexation of Eagle Rock to Los Angeles. The consolidation left the bonds without proper security and no section of the law provides for payment.

THOSE in favor of annexing Glendale to Los Angeles will not be able to give Eagle Rock's experience as reference, for up to the present time their losses have been many and gains hard to locate. By annexation they automatically went out of the Glendale high school district and now are compelled to send their children to Franklin high, a ride of one and one-half hours, if they go by street car.

EVEN as regards to sewer, these hopes are pinned to Glendale's sewer.

The hearing before the Los Angeles council regarding the Glendale sewer is slated for Monday morning at 11 o'clock. The meeting is an open one and any Glendale citizen is welcome to attend. Glendale should be represented by a goodly number of her citizens. There never was or ever will be a problem that concerns the future of Glendale so much as this sewer question. While at the present time it looks very much like our request will be granted, still nothing is absolutely sure about it until we get the definite say-so from the Los Angeles city council.

MONDAY has been set aside as a "Shopping Day" in Glendale by about thirty of our most representative stores. Their advertisements appear in a special section of today's paper.

We recommend to our readers that they patronize the stores on Monday. If arrangements could be made to switch the shopping done on Saturday to Monday, a great deal of good would be done. Saturday is generally accepted throughout the land as a vacation day and yet in Glendale it seems necessary to keep the stores open, which means the clerks have to stay on the job. Why not get together and close all stores Saturday afternoon by switching the trade from that day to Monday? If it were, the stores could arrange to stay open Monday night.

WE have always thought that it would be well if some arrangements could be made to keep the stores open one night a week. This would accommodate those who work in Los Angeles and leave Glendale before the stores open and do not get home until after the stores are closed.

That this situation exists has been proved in the school elections when the polls do not open until 8 in the morning and are closed at 6 o'clock in the evening, for a representative vote of those who work in Los Angeles has never been polled.

HIGH GLEE CLUBS TO GIVE OWN CONCERT

Clever Entertainment Is Promise for Tuesday Evening

The student body of Glendale high and the citizenry of Glendale will have the opportunity next Tuesday evening at 8:15 to show their appreciation of the good work of the glee clubs of the school by patronizing the concert they are putting on in the school auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Dora Gibson, head of the music department, and Mrs. Charles A. Parker, director of chorus work. The girls are to give a cantata, "The Garden of Flowers," which will include between 35 and 40 singers and have a very pretty setting.

About thirty boys will give seriously a number entitled "Lockin' var," and will then proceed to burlesque it for the entertainment of the audience.

There will be an intermission, during which the piano classes will provide three numbers. It is being given under the auspices of the school P. T. A. and the receipts will be divided between that organization and the glee

7,000 SWARM INTO BIG INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION AND ACCLAIM THE CITY

Motion Picture Weekly Films Crowds and Booths for Nation-wide Distribution Before Audiences of 50,000 Theaters for Immediate Release

GLENDALE IS PRIDE OF LOS ANGELES COUNTY

Speakers Extol Merits of Community and the Pride of Merchants and Manufacturers Who Assisted in Making Show a Foreshadowed Success

As fast as the fastest express can carry it, the pictures of the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition will be shown in all parts of the United States through the Motion Picture Weekly.

Shots of the great crowds and of each booth at the exposition were taken by the Motion Picture Weekly camera last night and 100 feet of film, with the name of Glendale figuring prominently in its contents, have been shipped to New York for immediate release.

The Motion Picture Weekly plans to show pictures of the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition in 50,000 theatres throughout America. It doesn't take much figuring to understand what this means for Glendale.

42,000 IN POPULATION IS REACHED

Postmaster Jackson and Assistant Compile Glendale Statistics

SURVEY ALL DISTRICT

38,868 Are Served by the Glendale Carriers It Is Shown

Statistics acquired by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson and Assistant Postmaster Hallett confirm the recent declaration of the Glendale Press, made editorially, that Glendale now has a population of 42,000.

A recent survey of districts now served by carriers which included a count to secure information on which to base requests for extensions of service, has just been completed and shows that the population served by Glendale carriers is now approximately 38,868. This takes no account of the territory that is served by this office through rural routes in Grand View, Verdugo Woodlands, and Sparr Heights.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson declares that with this territory added to that of the carrier service, 42,000 would be a very conservative estimate.

He has been informed by post-office inspectors that the figures obtained in such post office surveys more closely approximate an actual census than any other check that has ever been made and for that reason they can be relied upon as being practically accurate.

On the first of January, 1922, the population served by carriers in Glendale was 27,000. It has therefore increased in the sixteen months that have intervened 11,000 or at the rate of about 700 per month.

The postmaster was made happy yesterday by the receipt of a notice from the department at Washington that improved rural delivery would be extended through the Glendale office to Grand View, Verdugo Woodlands, Sparr Heights, Sycamore Canyon Road and Montrose, to be effective July 1.

Another matter of interest in connection with post office facilities is the placing of the first mail chute in a Glendale office building in the new Lawson block at Brand and Wilson. It will descend into a strong box in the elevator lobby.

A similar chute will undoubtedly be placed in the six-story building of the Security National Bank, and these are some of the evidences of metropolitan growth.

CALIFORNIA WINS INTER-COLLEGIATE TRACK MEET

[By Associated Press]

FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—California today won the intercollegiate track and field championship for the third successive year, defeating the pick of stars from 23 eastern colleges in the two-day meet at Franklin field. The Golden Bears scored 39½ points, winning after a close struggle with Princeton, who finished second with 33 points.

LEROY DAWSON IS SPEAKER AT THE LEGION MEETING

Most Shot Up Man in the Country Thrills Audience

Leroy Dawson, head of the Victory post of the American Legion of Los Angeles, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Spanish War Veterans organization, in American Legion hall, on East Broadway, Friday night, and the address he gave stirred the veterans more than anything they have heard for many months. Mr. Dawson is supposed to be the most "shot up" man in the country. During the war he lost one leg and the sight of one eye, while the other is almost blind. He has a false bridge in his nose and a silver plate in his skull, in addition to a number of other "memos."

He was gassed several times, had a large number of operations, and, as he says, an example of the skill of modern surgery. After telling about his experiences and how he had been "repaired" after each trip to the front, he concluded by saying that Uncle Sam had treated him fairly, according to his idea, and that he is back of the government every foot of the way. He has no complaint to file, and he does not "pack" a gun. Notwithstanding his afflictions, he is happy and cheerful.

At last night's meeting the organization decided on a membership campaign to be started soon. This will be conducted under the leadership of J. F. McElish. For this campaign the city will be divided into sections and the various members of the society will be assigned to the different parts of town.

Walter Z. Brunner was initiated into the Legion. Announcement was made of the baseball game to be held Sunday afternoon at El Segundo. The attendance prize last night, which was a set of booster prizes for Glendale donated by the Monarch Auto Supply Co., was awarded to Rev. C. M. Calderwood.

Legion members are looking forward to the 40 and 8 Society promenade to be held in Glendale on Thursday, May 31.

VALLEY ROAD TO REMAIN OPEN IN RECONSTRUCTION

So Supervisor Wright Announces to City Manager Reeves

The San Fernando road, between Roscoe and Burbank, will not be completely blocked to traffic during the reconstruction of that stretch, according to an assertion made by Supervisor Henry W. Wright at the Glendale Merchants' Exposition last night. The fact that this road will be kept open will eliminate all chance of the patronage the Glendale merchants would secure from the traffic from the north over the San Fernando road being diverted from this city.

The original plan, it is understood, was to close the road during its resurfacing. This method would, however, result in the traffic that would otherwise come through Glendale being diverted across to Hollywood.

The statement with regard to this roadway being kept open was made by Supervisor Wright to city manager Reeves, who stated after the interview that the arrangement reached is entirely satisfactory with the Glendale people.

FOOTHILL FOLKS TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

The Foothill Improvement association will meet next Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Grand View school. Arrangements will be made for association's party in the parade on Decoration day, and all members are urged to be present.

MRS. ROBERTS AGAIN HEADS MUSIC GROUP

Re-elected Curator of the Tuesday Afternoon Club Section

SPANISH PROGRAM

Plans for the Luncheon on June Eighth Are Announced

An interesting afternoon of Spanish music was enjoyed by the members of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club following the business session. Mrs. Warren Roberts was unanimously re-elected as curator. Mrs. Chas. A. Meadows declined re-election and Mrs. A. D. Danop was unanimously chosen to fill the office of secretary-treasurer.

Plans were announced for the music section luncheon to be held on June 8, at 12:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones. Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Ludke were appointed to have charge of the silver and dishes. Mrs. Heide will have charge of the tables and decorations. Reservations should be made with Mrs. A. M. Draper, Glendale 2338-W, before June 5. The luncheon will be $1 per plate and will be prepared by a cateress. Those not having automobiles are asked to phone Mrs. Bine Smith, Glendale 1400, as are also those who have machines and would have room to take members to the Jones residence. The program will be in charge of Mrs. E. W. Kinney. The matter of giving and outdoor summer dance and card party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ratray, on Kenneth road, was also discussed. It will be held on Wednesday evening, June 27. Tickets will be 50 cents each.

It was decided to hold the section meetings in the clubhouse next year. Mrs. Virginia Freeman reported $615 collected yesterday for the piano fund.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Charles Meadows, and included the following: A paper on "Spanish Music and Composers" by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell. She stated "To Spain be longs the credit of having created the germ which has developed into French and Italian opera." Mrs. Mitchell gave a resume of the life of some of the prominent Spanish composers and artists and also referred to Miss Viola Yorba of Glendale. Miss Yorba next appeared on the program, first singing "La Golondrina," after which she did a Spanish dance number. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Roberta Young.

Mrs. Hazel Schertzingler Brewster, composer harpist, gave a group of beautiful selections on the harp, including an original composition "Serenade," and also her own composition of "Evening Star" from Wagner's "Tannhauser." As an encore number, Mrs. Brewster played her arrangement of "Humoresque." Mrs. Katherine Shank of Glendale generously contributed several numbers, including "Madrigal Espanol" (Julian Alvarez), and "La Partida" (F. M. Alvarez).

As an encore number she sang an American composition, "The Last Song" (Rogers). She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Norman Ball.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, gave a short talk to the section members asking that they send in letters or criticisms or suggestions, by letter or otherwise, so that they might be studied over during the summer and incorporated in the program for the new club year.

Miss Yorba favored the section with another group of vocal numbers, "La Paloma" and "La Perla," after which the members adjourned to the palm room where Mrs. Colin Cable, hostess for the afternoon, served delicious refreshments of home-made cakes and punch.

Senseless Joke Causes Panic On Car

A near panic was caused on the 8 o'clock Eagle Rock to Glendale car of the Glendale-Montrose Railway last night, when an aspiring young farmer hurled a new potato through the window, in merry jest, and sent glass splintering over the heads of occupants in the rear of the car. Although no damage was done to the passengers, the screams of the young people and children who occupied the back seats, caused everyone in the car to believe that a terrible accident had occurred.

The "spud" thrower was not found when the car stopped, to enable the motorman to locate the trouble.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO ENJOIN BOY CITY WORKERS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26 (U. P.).—The injunction for years a "bogy" of organized labor—today was raised as a club by the federal government against labor's enemies. The government filed suit in federal court here against the San Francisco Builders' Exchange, the San Francisco industrial association and 49 other firms, organizations and individuals asking they be enjoined from further alleged conspiracy against organized labor. The charges were that the defendants refused to do business with firms not employing at least 50 per cent non-union labor; that they agreed to employ at least that percentage of non-union labor themselves.

The suit is an outgrowth of long standing warfare between the building trades in San Francisco and the employers. Recently this warfare led to investigation by both the federal trade commission and the department of justice. Labor leaders viewed today's suit as a symbol of victory for their cause.

LEGION INTER-POST COUNCIL PLEASSED WITH GRAND VIEW

Selection of Cemetery Meets With General Satisfaction

The selection of Grand View cemetery by the City Interpost Council as the official cemetery of the American Legion appears to give general satisfaction and its dedication on Memorial day, next Wednesday, will bring many distinguished guests to the city, to pay reverent tribute to their dead, in the American Legion plot, at 10:30 a. m.

Officials declare it will be the greatest memorial dedication service ever held in the west.

Arrangements are now being made by a committee of the city inter-post council of the American Legion, composed of Leonard Wilson, president of the council, and member of Hollywood Post, chairman; J. W. McKinley, commander Los Angeles Post No. 8, and Robert L. Hanley, past commander Victory Post No. 54, for a great dedication Memorial service, at which time prominent people of the nation, state and local vicinity will be invited to take part. Legionnaires and citizens from all over Southern California are expected to attend.

Governor James G. Scrugham of the state of Nevada will deliver the address. Governor Scrugham was the first Legionnaire to be elected a governor by any state. He is past national vice-commander of the American Legion and has become nationally known by his work on the national legislative committee of the American Legion.

Other distinguished guests invited and expected to attend this noted occasion are Mayor George F. C. Rver of Los Angeles, Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale, Governor Friend W. Richardson, Congressman Walter Linderberger, Congressman-elect John D. Fredricks, members of Glendale city council, Judge John W. Shook, Judge Charles S. Crail, Sheriff William L. Traeger, State Commander Seth Millington, Past State Commanders David P. Barrows, Byron Pitts, and John Quinn, First Vice-Commander Maurice F. Emmerle, Third Commander Ann Cardozo, State Sergeant-at-Arms William Kohlman, County Councilman Philip F. Dodson, county councilman, Mrs. Carol Marks, past vice national commander of Auxiliary, Past State Chaplain W. E. Edmondson, and others.

Visitors to Grand View cemetery in connection with arrangements for this service have been tremendously impressed by its beautiful situation on the slope at Glenwood road and Grand View, which spans the valley and visions the placid Pacific ocean. The legion plot is already beautified by palms, camphor and other trees and will be still further improved along these lines.

The arrangements made with the cemetery officials is on the basis of $25 per grave for veterans and $35 to members of veterans' families, this cost to cover cost of grave, opening and closing charge and perpetual care. In addition to this the cemetery has donated a large space in the center of the legion plot for a monument or memorial and $1000 towards its erection.

The complete program of the big Memorial day dedication will be announced by Leonard Wilson, chairman of the inter-post council of the legion in a few days.

Glendale Elks and their ladies will be guests tonight at the regular monthly dance to be given at the local clubhouse for the benefit of the Elks' fund.

BIGGEST VOLUME OF GOODS EVER OFFERED TO BE SEEN IN THE SHOPPING SECTION

Advertisements of Those Who Joined With the Glendale Daily Press in the Pioneer Work of Making Monday Shopping Day Speak for Themselves of Their Goods They Are Advertising in the Press Today

The Glendale Daily Press today presents the merchants of Glendale, assembled in advertisements of bargains and price array, in a separate section of this issue.

It is a most important assembly. It means much to the housewife, the householder, the buyers of Glendale and all the district surrounding Glendale, custodians of the weekly payroll of this whole district.

Read, first, what these merchants say in the separate stories that are included, mainly, in the separate section. Then read the advertisements of goods, price and service.

Then you will have done your first duty as conservers of the interests of Glendale, which includes the interests of your merchants and their welfare quite as much as the construction of a sewer for the prosperity of the city, increase of values of land and of your own particular hearthstones.

These merchants will tell you why they believe you should shop on Monday, why they will be all dressed up and awaiting at their doors Monday to receive you in the spirit of mutual self-help.

You can do all this at home, to-night and tomorrow, without an effort.

As you do it, think of this: If, on Monday, you will aid in the movement you will make a little sunshine in Glendale for a couple of thousand folks whom you meet every day, early morning, late at night. Nothing has been said about them.

They are the clerks, the young girls and the youths, the older men and women of the Glendale stores among whom you have your favorites, of course.

If you are saving the buying power of Glendale over to Monday, it is in the future that you liberate them early Saturday during the summer months anyway. So long as Monday's buying is accentuated—and you are each individually responsible for that accentuation—it may be possible for them to spend part of Saturday at the beaches, at home, have a real holiday, be a more rested attendant at the churches Sunday.

Of course, the proprietors are just as eager for that week-end holiday as their clerks. By the persistence in Saturday buying you are holding all these people at attention in Glendale, against the call of all nature and against the wooing of all these summer days. Summer days that once passed, never come again.

With this thought today and tomorrow add that on Monday, when you go to the stores—for the Glendale Daily Press knows you will go—that it is expected you will go in every case with the purpose of buying a great volume of goods.

The merchants know that you enter their stores next Monday to testify your co-operation with the Monday shopping day movement and its objective, the centering of all attention on Glendale's trade center, the human interest in the folks behind the counters. And we know these merchants are enterprising enough to place before you some goods, some article at a price that will make it a worthy souvenir of the first Monday shopping day in Glendale. Something that perhaps you may refer to some time as your certificate of participation in a movement which is toward better merchandising, better prices, upbuilding of the business section, concentration of prosperity and last—and so seldom mentioned—in human sympathy, with those who stand and serve behind the counters of Glendale stores.

THE Glendale Press will publish, if possible, in its Monday edition the disposition made by the Los Angeles council of this proposition.

MORELAND MOTOR TRUCK CO. OF BURBANK WINS BIG BUS ORDER

Los Angeles Motorbus Company Orders Three Quarters of a Million Dollars' Worth of Improved Type of Cars for the New Supplementary

As a definite forward step in the inauguration of a plan for supplementing the present street car service in and about Los Angeles, the L. A. Motorbus company, representing the Pacific Electric and L. A. Railway companies in the operation of busses as adjuncts to their system, have ordered three quarters of a million dollars worth of the most improved type of motor busses for this purpose.

The order for these busses, which is the largest ever given at one time on the coast to any manufacturer, was definitely placed today by O. A. Smith and F. VanVranken, who are handling the organization of the L. A. Motorbus company, with the Moreland Motor Truck company of Burbank and Los Angeles, represented throughout the negotiations by General Sales Manager, Phil H. Mallory.

The three quarters of a million dollar order calls for two styles of the latest types of motor busses manufactured by the Moreland Motor Truck company, both single and double deck. They are of the low gravity type, with underslung worm drive and drop frames, engineered to eliminate possibilities of overturning, to provide ease of handling and the least obstruction to other traffic in the streets, speed and the highest degree of safety and comfort to passengers.

The final decision as to type and make of bus to use in the proposed supplementary service resulting in the placing of the order by Messrs. Smith and VanVranken with the Moreland company, was reached only after the most careful investigation and study of the various makes manufactured in the country and the most rigid tests, covering a period of many months. Several Moreland busses have been operating for a year past under the most careful scrutiny.

The busses included in this order are to seat 25 and 55 passengers each. Some of the features to be ready for delivery within a short time, the others as soon as they can be manufactured. All will be placed in operation just as soon as completed.

The announcement of the placing of this huge order with a coast manufacturer, is of deep interest to all having the future of this section and the general development of the coast at heart, as a distinct and definite recognition of the importance and standing of western manufacturing industries.

Messrs. Smith and VanVranken, in discussing the decision regarding the addition of large numbers of motor busses state that in placing the order with the local company, they feel that they have purchased the type of bus suitable for the service and in spending the money locally their companies are doing something toward the up-building of the general prosperity of the community.

General Sales Manager Mallory of the Moreland company states that the busses will be delivered within the shortest time possible, as steps are being taken to rush the production through with the utmost speed. "Naturally," says Mr. Mallory, "we feel very much gratified at receiving this order from the standpoint of our own business, but we are especially pleased at the tribute of confidence paid to the standing of Pacific coast manufacturing industries and because of the fact that the money is to be spent in this section. Probably over 65 per cent of the money received from this order will be spent for labor and supplies among the coast manufacturers and dealers in supplies from whom we purchase."

CANADIANS FORM GET TOGETHER ORGANIZATION

On Thursday evening, May 24, a few Canadians who are or who contemplate making their homes in Glendale, held an informal meeting at 406 South Brand boulevard, for the purpose of forming a get-together club of society where a social time may be had and where Canadians living or visiting in Glendale can meet and visit with home folks. Mr. George P. Porter was requested to act as chairman and Mrs. M. E. Brode as secretary.

At the close of the meeting all those present adjourned to the Glenn Inn for refreshments.

The next meeting will be held Friday, June 1, at 406 South Brand boulevard.

DON'TS FOR PIANO STUDENTS IN CITY

By MRS. HERBERT BAINES
Licentiate of Music, Glendale, California

1. Don't begin to play until you have noted the key and time signatures of the piece.
2. Don't count to suit your playing, play to strict time counting.
3. Don't play fast all the easy parts and slow down at different places. Play all at the pace you play worst until all is smooth.
4. Don't pass over a difficult place until you have completely mastered it.
5. Don't bang the keys as if you hated them. Strike firmly, but as if you loved your instrument.
6. Don't twist and jerk your hand when passing your thumb under.
7. Don't use the pedal at all when learning a new piece and when ready to use it be careful not to keep it down all the time. If you do not understand harmony you must let your ear guide you in its use. Too little pedal is better than too much.
8. Don't play with your arms.
9. Don't nod your head when playing an accented note, or sway it to keep time. Try to sit quietly and look at ease when playing.
10. Don't play one hand after the other. This is a very common fault with many pianists, especially when playing hymns.
11. Don't let your mind wander when practicing. Listen intently to your music and try to express something of the composer's meaning.
12. Don't jazz good music. It is an insult to the composer and there is plenty of that special sort of printed noise in the world to draw from without being sacrilegious.

7000 SWARM INTO BIG TOP AT THE EXPOSITION

with jet-trimmed face, sang "I Love You California," which was followed by a selection by Harry Horn, the famous soloist.

Following these selections, the Elks' band, with Edwin S. Brill as conductor, entertained the multitude that wandered down the aisles, pausing to listen to the music, and again making for booths that had attracted the attention.

At 9 o'clock the fashion show took place. Gorgeous ladies wearing apparel, dresses, coats, sports attire, and evening gowns were shown in various and attractive modes, with local beauties as models. Miss Ruth Stokes is in charge of all the fashion revues to be given during the exposition.

Following the fashion revue, "Baby Betty," the tiniest motion picture actress, drew the lucky ticket to the gold watch, entitling S. Rosenthal of 818 South San Fernando road to the prize.

The crowds lingered for hours after the program was concluded. The exhibits claimed the praise of every visitor. Never before in the history of Glendale or any other city, has there been such a successful opening of an industrial exposition, according to H. L. Leavitt, director general.

"I have been managing such shows as this for the past 35 years, but never in my experience have I seen such a perfect opening," said Mr. Leavitt. "Usually the exhibitors have finishing touches to put on their booths after the opening, but there was not a nail driven and everything was in place for the opening word."

The delegation from Los Angeles and Santa Monica was fettered at the chamber of commerce headquarters on South Brand boulevard at 6:30 last night. One hundred delegates from the beach city came to greet Glendale in her great exposition, twelve of whom represented the Santa Monica chamber of commerce.

The reception committee was composed of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, the heads of committees, directors of the credit association, and the associated exposition committee of the two organizations, and the Glendale city council.

Many prominent residents of Santa Monica were in its delegation. The Santa Monica band and the entire delegation was escorted over to the Harriett Mae Tea room where an elaborate dinner was served, following which the guests were escorted to the big tent.

The Exposition events for tonight, tomorrow and Monday are as follows:

$92,000 SCHOOL BOND ISSUE IS INVALID

Legal Firm Authorized to Investigate Security Rules Bonds Out on Two Legal Technicalities

The $92,000 worth of school bonds, which carried three to one, and were authorized for sale March 3, will not provide the new school units which Eagle Rock parents have looked forward to as the solution of the half-day schooling sessions now in order owing to the crowded condition of the schools which have grown out of bounds in attendance within the last few months. The bonds have been declared invalid by the legal firm authorized to investigate such municipal issues and requested by the prospective buyers to look into their security.

The bonds, which were to provide two $40,000 school units, one in the east and one in the west end districts, were looked over by the investigating firm and reported on to the office of County Counsel Hill on May 1, but no report was filed with any of the local school authorities. Had it been, there would have been an interval of two weeks between the first of May and the date of annexation, during which the bonds could have been disposed of to banks and private parties, or to investing corporations. The vital improvements could have been secured without further delay.

On March 10, plans were started for the new buildings. With these on the way, the bonds were sold to the highest bidder on April 8, and the completion of the plans and all specifications were under way so that the units would be ready for service this fall. Everything was set for swift completion of the work; with no doubt but that the money would be forthcoming at the end of a sixty day period when the school board made to purchase the bonds for the additional facilities.

When Walter H. Dorrance, head of the school board at the time of annexation, in arranging for the new grounds, stumbled on the fact that the validity of the bonds was questionable, on May 16, it was as sudden a shock as the explosion of a hand grenade in a select must-cable. No idea of any question of their security had been advanced before that time, and immediately Sherrill B. Osborne, mayor, and C. E. Spencer, formerly of the L. A. city attorney's office, set about quietly to see what retraction of the two points advanced by the legal firm could be effected, if an error in their judgment could be proven. The following questions were the basis for the invalidity of the bonds: (1) That the limits of the Eagle Rock school district extended beyond the corporate limits of the city of Eagle Rock, (this complaint was later withdrawn); (2) That consolidation left the bonds without proper security and no section of the law seemed to provide for payment.

Mr. Stephens, city attorney of Los Angeles, attempted to hold up the filing of the certificate of consolidation in Sacramento, but twenty-four hours before his word reached there, consolidation had been effected permanently, and the papers were all on file. So a crisis in the school situation is faced by Eagle Rock through the unfortunate circumstances which the Los Angeles board of education states that at present there is no indication that their program will permit opportunity to complete the necessary improvements in this section, for a year at least.

In a statement issued by the former school board the following regrets are sent to the people of Eagle Rock:

"It is with regret that the board has to announce this most unfortunate ending of their hopes to be able to turn over to the Los Angeles Board of Education a model little group of schools, free of debt and fully equipped.

"We wish to express to the people of Eagle Rock our appreciation of their co-operation and of the honor which has been ours in representing them in the administration of the Eagle Rock city school district.

WORLD WAR VETS OPEN OWN STORE IN HOLLYWOOD

With practically all Hollywood boosting and offering best wishes for their success, one hundred ex-service men, 90% of whom were wounded or otherwise disabled in the late war, opened today at 5177 Hollywood boulevard, Hollywood, the first store of its kind in the United States to be operated exclusively by the world war veterans.

The store, which has been stocked with all kinds of electrical household appliances, will be known as "The 100 Service Plan," the name the incorporators have adopted for their $50,000 organization.

All members of the corporation have been students of the University of California, Southern Branch, and it was while at this institution they conceived the idea of pooling their interests and embarking in this collective business friendship.

Proceeding the formal opening of this store the incorporators and many of their buddies paraded through the streets of Hollywood while aviators showered the crowds with folders explaining the purposes of the corporation.

At the store members of the motion picture colony, including Miss Helen Ferguson, now starring in the "Unknown Purple," under production at the Goldwyn Studios, were on hand to welcome patrons and pass out souvenirs. Miss Ferguson was assisted by Philippe de Lacy, the French war orphan appearing in Mary Pickford's latest picture; Coy Watson, the ten-year-old picture favorite, and Pat O'Malley, featured in Reginald Barker's production, "The Lawbringers."

The officers of the 100 Service Plan are: John W. Hamilton, president and chairman of the board; De Vier Ely and A. S. Butterworth, Jr., vice-presidents; Oliver Doerr, secretary and treasurer; Paul Schwartz, James Lewis and S. A. Capodice.

HIGH JUNIORS ENTERTAIN SENIORS

Party at Sunset Canyon Club Is Pleasant Affair

The party given by juniors for seniors of Glendale High at Sunset Canyon Country Club Friday afternoon proved a very pleasant affair. Those who did not patronize the swimming pool and the golf course were entertained with games in the club house, and refreshments of sandwiches, cake, ice cream and punch were served on the roof, the students leaving the club about 6 p. m. The party numbered about 200 and Ronald West, president of the junior class, assisted by Catherine Guthrie, Emma Laura Cooper and others, had general charge. The list of teachers present included: Vice-Principal A. L. Ferguson, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Kolts, Miss Rennison, Mr. Borchamp, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Baker, Miss Haingrove, Vice-Principal Mrs. George U. Moyses and Miss Corry.

HIGH FRESHMEN GET TOGETHER

Last night was the scene of much activity in the girls' gym of the high school, but it had reason to be for it was the first freshman party of the class of '26. Balloons and confetti were used exclusively in decorations and made the gym look very attractive. As dancing is not allowed the evening was spent in playing games of all kinds, the teachers present playing too. Later in the evening refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and cake, the refreshment committee having charge. After some more games the party broke up, all present telling each other how good it was and how well it went off.

FAMOUS TENOR TO SING SUNDAY AT FIRST METHODIST

Lebn Rice, famous dramatic tenor, is coming to the First M. E. Church for special musical programs Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. Rice is regarded as one of America's greatest concert singers. He has sung with great success in practically every city in the United States and Canada, and the press has accorded him the most extravagant praise.

For several years Mr. Rice was soloist with Trinity Church Corporation, New York City, the wealthiest church in the world, and has the distinction of having received the largest salary of any church singer.

Sunday Mr. Rice will sing some of the songs that have made him famous here and abroad. Jean Rice, also an artist of international reputation, will preside at the piano. It is expected that the capacity of the church will be taxed to accommodate those who will want to hear this noted singer.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Rice will give a concert program in the church. The selections will range from grand opera to negro melodies.

In addition to the musical program a talk on "A Clean Screen" will be given by D. W. Pollard, National Boys' worker. Mr. Pollard is well known all over the country.

DO YOU ENJOY GOOD SINGING?

If you do, Cliff Cole's big class of real men beckons you. Will J. Myers, the liveliest wire in the song leader group of Glendale, conducts a preliminary "sing" every Sunday morning that fairly gets the men up on their toes. Will J. can extract real music from a man who never sang before and who tells you he can't sing. Where does all this happen? Why, at Central Christian Sunday school, Colorado and Louise, every Sunday morning.

And after the "sing" the lesson is taught by the best Bible teacher in all the Southland. You must be there at 9:30 sharp if you want to take in all the songs. Cliff Cole invites you. The men of the class invite you.

Glendale Chamber of Commerce

and

Business Men's Credit Association

Gentlemen:

By way of introduction, permit me to say that I have the honor to represent the organized printers of Glendale—not the printing offices, but the mechanics themselves, who work in Glendale, live in Glendale and spend their money in Glendale.

There lies before me a copy of the booklet program of the Glendale Industrial Exposition, the cover sheet of which says is under the auspices of your organizations.

It is with a mingled feeling of indignation and shame that I peruse its pages from the viewpoint of a practical printer.

One cannot help but feel indignant that organizations like yours, which are supposed to be the very embodiment of the spirit of "boosting for Glendale," should go out of their way to place an order for printing with an out-of-town concern; especially an order of this kind, which is to announce and boost an exposition of Glendale goods by Glendale merchants and business men.

There have been times when officially I have called on individual merchants of this town who so far forgot themselves as to have their printing done out of town, but in this case there can be no possible excuse for it. CONSISTENCY, WHERE ART THOU?

I blush with shame at the quality of workmanship displayed therein, although the printers themselves, perhaps, were not to blame, for sometimes on a "cheap job" the workman is compelled to slight it to make a profit for the boss. And the only reason I can see for your taking it out of town would be to get a cheap job—you surely got it!

I also take this opportunity to speak through you to some of the individual merchants and others of this town who get printed matter done in Los Angeles and other places, and perhaps excuse themselves on the theory that the proprietors of such printing establishments are members of the Chamber of Commerce. But their plants are not here—the money is not spent here—their workmen do not live here!

The same thing applies to printing ordered by the city officials for the City of Glendale. Why is any of it done any place but in Glendale? It is your duty to look after such matters.

All of which leads me to ask of you—

"WHY IS THE GLENDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE?"

Respectfully submitted, H. T. BROOKMILLER,
President Glendale Typographical Union No. 871.

May 26, 1923.

P. S.—If you will demand this insignia on your printed matter in the future (and see that you get it) there will be no doubt as to where you had it printed.

Note the words "Glendale, Cal." at the bottom of the little label.

NON-SECTION IS HOSTESS AT BIG CARD AND DANCE

Non-section members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery as chairman, were hostesses at a very delightful card and dancing party at the Tuesday Afternoon Club auditorium last night to return courtesies which had been extended by members and friends of the club in the raising of money for the building and furnishings fund. The guests included the husbands of the non-section members, the group of high school girls who assisted in serving the St. Patrick's luncheon and their escorts, and others who have actively assisted the non-section. Music for dancing was furnished by Kelly's Shrine Club Orchestra. For those not caring to dance there were card tables at "500" and bridge. Prizes at "500" were awarded to Mrs. Garland and Mr. Clough and first prize at bridge was awarded to Mrs. E. H. Lyman. During the evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Presbyterians to Have Novel Service

A treat is awaiting music lovers at the Glendale Presbyterian Church at the evening service tomorrow. The English Hand Bell Ringers of Los Angeles will render a number of selections during the service. They have been in Glendale a number of times and are always given an enthusiastic reception.

The sermon at this service will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, and will be another of the popular series, "Who's Who?" A cordial welcome is extended to the general public to attend this service.

WRECKING CREW OF 40 AND 8 SOCIETY

Commander Chalmers Day of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, has received word that Dr. J. C. Courtures will be conductor of the "wrecking crew" of the 40 and 8 Society coming to Glendale on Thursday night, May 31, for the purpose of initiating local American Legion members into the order of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

Comrade Walter A. Grayson, a local 40 and 8 member, vouches for the fact that Dr. Courtures is a past master in the art of conducting an initiation. The 40 and 8 Society, primarily a fun organization, creates considerable entertainment in their own peculiar way and in addition there will be several professional entertainers.

Mrs. Ed N. Radke of North Hollywood street, who has been enjoying a ten days' rest at the headwaters of the Big Tujunga, arrived home Friday.

MRS. LUCAS IS NEW DEPHIAN PRESIDENT

The Alpha Delphian chapter of Glendale held its monthly meeting at the public library Thursday morning, May 24. Mrs. E. D. Yard presiding and Mrs. E. A. Bode secretary. Chapter bulletins and tickets have been received from the Los Angeles district, for the annual spring luncheon to be held on Thursday, June 7, at the Ambassador hotel.

Every Delphian desiring to participate in this the largest affair of the club year, should phone for reservation to the secretary before May 30.

Important business for the coming year was transacted, also the following chapter officers were selected for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. P. O. Lucas; first vice president, Mrs. Barton Manbert; second vice president, Mrs. E. W. A. Alsberge; secretary, Miss Martha J. Cox; leader of the "Lotus" group, Mrs. E. L. Mason; leader of the "Ivy" group, Mrs. H. W. Bolton.

After the business meeting a short program was enjoyed, "The Wandering Nation" by Mrs. Chas. Marshall; "Feudalism" by Mrs. Barton Manbert; "Monks and Monasteries" by Mrs. D. W. Stephenson, all members of the "Lotus" group.

The next chapter meeting will be held Thursday, June 28, at the public library.

Crescent Creamery Adopts New Method of Entering City

One of Glendale's stately foothill homes was chosen by the Crescent Creamery Co. as the model for a home to be reproduced at the company's exhibit at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition, now under way on North Brand boulevard.

This booth shows the artistic home in the foothills, with the driveway and lay-out of shrubs, flowers and lawn. Cement curbing has even been installed and everything made to look as if the home had been there for a considerable length of time.

In the driveway is seen one of the Crescent Creamery milk wagons, making the daily delivery of milk at the door. The artificial figure of a horse and driver add to the realistic effect of this exhibit. This serves to remind the public that the Crescent Creamery Co. is adopting Glendale as the home of one of its largest, if not the largest, production plant.

PATRIOTIC CLUB WOMEN CALLED TO ASSEMBLE

Mrs. Lillian Dow, chairman of patriotism, is urging members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club to take part in the Memorial Day parade on Wednesday, May 30. Members of the club are to assemble at the corner of Kenwood and Colorado, facing south, at 1:30 o'clock.

MARPLE CLAN HAS GRIFFITH PARK MEET

The Marple Clan, famous for their jolly picnic outings, had one Friday night at Griffith Park where Bert Marple acted as chief of fest, making the other masculine members of the party tend the fire. The tables were spread in the Bee Rock picnic grounds opposite the golf course where the kiddies found plenty of entertainment hunting for lost golf balls and in the amusement equipment. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Bert Marple and son Bromley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marple, their son Harry Jr. and daughter Betty; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Retts, their daughter Ellen and son Bill; Mr. Balcom and son Everett Balcom; Mrs. Edith A. Cross and Miss Gertrude Gibbs. The only regret of the evening was being shooed out of the park too soon by the custodians who close the gates at 8 p. m.

BIBLE SECTION OF CLUB TO MEET MONDAY

Members of the Bible Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet in the tearoom of the club house May 28 at 2:30 p. m. A business session will follow the lecture to be given by Mrs. Johnson of Los Angeles. This will be the last meeting of the year and members are privileged to bring guests.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS HOLDS BIG MEETING

About forty members of the local organization of Royal Neighbors attended the meeting held in the K. of P. hall Friday night, and about 30 guests were present from Pasadena. After a short business session tables were arranged for 500, and at the close of the game refreshments were served. Mrs. Leach of Sunland and Mr. Russell of East Maple street made the high scores of the evening.

How to Secure Dependable Plumbing

To see that your new home has proper sanitation and water facilities you need the advice and work of experts in that line. Years of endeavor and specializing have made us just the people you should deal with.

We have found that those who do not avail themselves of technical skill in the designing and supervision of their homes, as a rule not only get less convenient, less attractive, and less well built homes, but spend more money in getting them than if they had employed the most expert workmen.

This is particularly true of modern plumbing. Work of the right kind requires the highest plumbing skill and our workmen meet that requirement.

During the Industrial Exposition you will find at our display a practical demonstration of plumbing and plumbing fixtures of all kinds. Visit us, ask all the questions you like. We want you to learn how the plumber does more to keep the doctor away than any other single agency in the city.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK

HILARIOUS GALA DAY ENJOYED AT CENTRAL

Students and Teachers
Join Enthusiasm in Making Day Success

EAGLE ROCK, May 26.—An occasion of hilarity and spectacular events which will live long in the minds of the youngsters who participated, was the "Gala Day" celebration at Central school yesterday.

The May Fete in the auditorium, which was given a preview before over two hundred parents on Thursday evening, was the main feature of the day, and proved to be an exceptionally well-arranged and successfully executed affair. From an artistic standpoint, the pageant, "Spring's Awakening," was especially commendable. Miss Helen Londergan deserves much praise for her work which was evident throughout the entire play. She has had all costumes, rehearsing, stage-managing, and decorating in charge. Miss Helen S. Miller assisted her in the stage decorating, and a harmoniously colorful and effective setting was devised by Miss Londergan and Miss Miller for the charming pageant.

A musical touch was given the production through the use of violins for most of the dances. The solo dances by Nancy Grant and Evelyn Nair, Ernest Belcher pupils, were graceful, and showed off their training to splendid advantage. Evelyn Nair is famous among her schoolmates for her acrobatic dancing, and Nancy Grant makes a specialty of more fairy-like aesthetic dances. Miss Nair took the part of "Jack Frost," and Nancy Grant, in a filmy gown was "Spring."

The scarf dance of the four winds, by Shirley Garret, Dorothy Wolf, Priscilla Reed and Clara Tracy, was also gracefully done. The "Flowers," in costumes of bluish pink, lilac and bright blue, with caps of golden yellow and frills of foliage green, made one of the prettiest pictures presented on the streamer-decked stage during the fanciful play.

The little "Raindrops" went through their dance commendably, and the entire symbolic theme was made quite realistic to the audience by the interpretation of all the young players. Miss Londergan is to be credited with the authorship of the play, and chose a most effective musical score.

The ensemble at the end, combining the waving of streamers and scarfs with group dancing, required only the confetti and the serpentine rolls to make it look like a setting for one of Cecil de Mille's carnival scenes. It wound up in a melange of color and motion. The school orchestra, under the entertainment with a lively selection. During the intermission the Girls' Glee club sang and after the pageant, Mr. P. H. Holland, the school janitor, made a real "hit" with the students by his clog dancing. He has been a professional dancer and won many a round of applause from his young audience yesterday.

After the auditorium program, a parade of decorated doll buggies, express wagons, "scooters" and vehicles of every description, took place on the school grounds. Teddy bears, pot dogs, and every style of doll rode in state in the elaborately decorated carriages.

The following took part in the pageant: Snow-Flakes—Glady's Boyd, Jean Baker, Vera May, Olga Griffin, Virginia Bruce, Jane Everson, Frances Baly, Bessie Barclay, Erna White, Alice Jenkins, De Lisle Cuts, Elsie Miller.

Raindrops—Alice Bruch, Marjorie Windess, Phyllis Waterman, Iva Mary Kennedy, Elizabeth Quarterman, Mona Reynolds, Roselle Winkler, Nettie Turton.

Flowers—Marjorie Knox, Elaine Gels, Dorothy Beers, Carol Crawford, Alice Farnsworth, Hazel Murdock, Marjorie Wilder, Katherine Moobr, Mildred Risdon, Grace Hass, Judith Edwards, Marguerite Galpin, Viola Green, Barbara Dorrance, Elizabeth Krouse.

Winds—Claire Tracy, Dorothy Wolf, Priscilla Reed and Shirley Garret.

Bobby Lang appeared in the prologue and Harold Lippold was the "Herald."

The presentation of the Fete on Thursday evening for the parents netted the cafeteria fund over twenty dollars.

ABRAMS LECTURE MONDAY NIGHT

Electronic Reactions of Abrams, as discovered and taught by Dr. Abrams of San Francisco, has caused much discussion. The claim of a new cure has excited so much controversy that Drs. Otey and Lynd announce a lecture on this mysterious force at the Chamber of Commerce hall Monday night to which the public is invited.

BARBARA TAYLOR HONOR FOR SCHOOL

EAGLE ROCK, May 26.—Barbara Taylor, daughter of J. Hartley Taylor of Eagle Rock, again distinguished herself by winning the racket at the tennis meet held with Monrovia on the Glendale high school grounds Thursday.

Miss Taylor was victorious in both singles and doubles, and Glendale won over Monrovia with a good margin. Miss Taylor is a claimant to the title of "Queen of the court" as she has won the title in the past.

Willie was under orders never to go in swimming. And mother meant to see that he obeyed. So one day he became suspicious.

"Willie, your clothes are wet," she said. "You have been in the water again."

"Yes, mother; I went in to save Charlie Jones."

"My noble darling! Did you jump in after him?"

"No, mother. I jumped in first so as to be there when he fell in."

Sunday Program

Evoking memories of another day, almost another age, was the effect of the news received from the coast by the Metro home offices that Frankie Bailey, the one-time toast of New York, is appearing as an extra in the Fred Niblo production of "The Famous Mrs. Puff." The photoplay will be at the Glendale, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Time was when Frankie Bailey was just one in a film group of Red Cross "buddies"—was the hit of musical show after musical show, and chiefly because of her legs! Adjudged the most beautiful pair of legs in the world, they were more eloquent to the audience than singers, songs, and orchestra. Frankie Bailey's famous legs in the cast were assurance of a rapid-fire hit.

However, she isn't the only former favorite appearing in extra parts in this Fred Niblo production presented as a Metro-Louis B. Mayer special. In the same party are Lydia Yeamanis Titus, Josephine Kirkwood, Muriel Boreford, Eva Mudge and Doscas Matthews.

An absorbing drama of a good, hard-working husband, dogged courage—and his modern, jazz-mad wife's greed. A story with a mighty moral—it teaches a lesson EVERYONE should heed! You owe it to yourself, your husband or wife, your son or daughter, to see this production, that some of America's foremost members of the clergy have endorsed! An exceptionally brilliant cast is headed by Barbara La Marr, David Butler, Betty Francisco, ZaSu Pitts and Richard Tucker.

BAPTIST CHURCH REVIVAL TO END SUNDAY NIGHT

Sunday will be the closing day of the evangelistic meetings at the First Baptist church. The meetings have continued for two weeks under the leadership of Miss Amy Lee Stockton, evangelist, and Miss Rita Gould, soloist and director of music. It is expected that the services of tomorrow will prove a real climax to the campaign. In the morning Miss Stockton will speak on "The Behaviour of Citizens," and in the evening on "What Is Your Excuse?" Special music has been planned, and a cordial invitation has been extended to the people of Glendale to enjoy the inspiration of these final meetings.

Last night a large company of young people marched into the auditorium to enter into the service especially planned for "Young People's Night." Miss Gould led the song service and beautifully sang "Let Him Have His Way With Thee."

Miss Stockton spoke last night on "A Great Prison Break," reviewing the deliverance of Paul and Silas from the prison in Philippi. "These disciples," said Miss Stockton, "were no more precious in the sight of God than any one of us, and God is willing to demonstrate the same power in bringing about our deliverance as He was in bringing about theirs. There are those here who are bound in prisons just as dark, and with chains just as galling, but if we are willing God will lead our imprisoned souls out into the glory of His sunshine and love. There are the prisons of unbelief, and of wordiness and of cowardice and of sin. To remain in them means eternal death, and there is but one deliverance and that is from above."

PSALM

To lay a soft hand
On the brow of pain,
To soothe the hurt
And make it well again.

To whisper comfort
To the heart of grief,
To bring it courage
That it find relief.

To lead the erring
To the paths of right,
And where was darkness
There to bring the light.

To lift the fallen
In the stony road,
And for the weary
Now to bear the load.

To find where sorrows
In the darkness grope,
To still their weeping
And to bring them hope.

To soften anger
And the hate it hath,
To bring forgiveness
To the soul of wrath.

To know no treasure
Like clean hearts and whole;
This be the measure
Of a manly soul.

NEW SUBDIVISION RECEIVES PATRONAGE OF HOMEBUYERS

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE HEIGHTS, MOST WONDERFULLY LOCATED TRACT IN SOU. CALIF., OPENS

Situated on 5-cent Car Line to Los Angeles, This Property Cannot Be Surpassed; It Has Rolling Hills, Modern Improvements, 'n Everything

Holding a central location, lying conveniently near Los Angeles, Glendale, Pasadena, Eagle Rock and Hollywood, Occidental College Heights, named for one of the highest class colleges in the West, offers opportunity to the investor and homeseeker to secure a high class home-site at a price that is not prohibitive.

This tract, which overlooks Occidental college from its higher elevations, is easily accessible from all the points mentioned, either by machine or rail. It offers a 5-cent fare from Los Angeles, and is bounded by Glassell boulevard, the main avenue of approach to Eagle Rock city, and forming a direct approach to Glendale or Pasadena.

It will be a pleasure to the autoist, in taking his Sunday afternoon drive in search of the lot to fit the pocketbook, to investigate Occidental College Heights. He will involuntarily leave his machine and begin to climb one of the rounded green hills that seem to have been created for the special purpose of obeying the hand of the subdivider and offering up a generous share of the wealth that has made California real estate synonymous with the dollar sign.

When reaching the crest of one of these hills, what will meet the eye of the prospective buyer? He will behold a tremendous panorama in whatever direction he gazes. Then will come the impression of the peculiarly fortunate location.

Gazing toward the foothills, he will behold stretched before him as he gradually turns to gaze over this enchanting silent picture representing so many hundreds of thousands of homes, Pasadena, Eagle Rock, Glendale and Hollywood, and toward the sea, a faint suggestion of the beach cities which his imagination can almost call into the dim horizon. Then below and to the southeast, Los Angeles, the sleeping city, teeming with industry that is sure to make every square foot of property within a wide radius of a value none can predict in future years.

Occidental College Heights is just 5 1/2 miles from the Los Angeles city hall. Verdugo road forms a direct route to the tract from Glendale, as the lots which are being offered are only a few blocks south of the junction of Verdugo road and Glassell boulevard.

Compared with the cities mentioned, Occidental College Heights is nearer the center of Los Angeles by several miles, but is more convenient to Glendale than to Los Angeles. This offers a particular advantage to the small home purchaser who must continue to work in either Los Angeles or Glendale, and will furnish a residential district that will bring an expenditure of money in both cities.

There are only a small number of lots left in the Occidental College Heights tract since the opening sale. Sales have been concluded in sensational style, due to the prospects possible in considering the purchase as an investment.

Bordering on a direct carline to Los Angeles, these lots have proven quick sellers to Los Angeles people, but to the person who possesses a machine, they are equally convenient to Glendale. None of the lots are more than 700 yards from the carline, and others are as near as 100 yards from the doorstep to the car step.

Exclusive but not expensive, is the description made by the owners and subdividers of Occidental College Heights, Cooper & Barry. They invite the prospective buyer to come Sunday and review the reasons for this statement. The subdividers announce that just the kind of restrictions a man building a middle-priced home wants are in effect at their tract. They also volunteer to show why the lay of the land makes this property peculiarly exclusive.

Here are the directions for the motorist who is in a hurry to get there. From any point in Glendale he must get over east to Verdugo boulevard running south from Colorado boulevard—then go along Verdugo boulevard south to its junction with Glassell boulevard, then turn left and go north one block to West Avenue 40 and Glassell boulevard, and he has arrived at Occidental College Heights.

A special cash price is placed on all of these lots. It is the claim of the subdividers that the prices on these lots range several hundred dollars below the standard market prices, and that instead of working a week for this amount, the investor can make it in a few hours by signing up for one of these investment lots.

A trip to the scene of selling activity will prove the worth of this property. Sales have been made in astonishing proportions and it is expected that the tract will be entirely sold during this week.

SOME FACTS ABOUT MONTEREY CYPRESS

The Monterey Cypress (Cupressus macrocarpa), a relative of the Old World Cypress tree (C. sempervirens) of the Egyptians and Romans, is one of several other California conifers that grow naturally over very limited areas.

The range of Monterey Cypress is confined to about two miles of California coast south of Monterey bay, in a belt about two hundred yards wide extending from Cypress Point to Point Lobos. There seems to be no evidence that it ever occupied a larger range, although various conjectures are extant that it once grew in a wider coastal belt, part of which is now submerged. It does not appear that it is in imminent danger of soon disappearing from its rocky and sandy habitat, for it is constantly reproducing itself from seed.

Moreover, the tree is extensively cultivated in the Pacific Coast from Washington to Lower California, while it is a familiar ornament in European gardens, in miniature climates of South America and in Australia and New Zealand. Its ability to thrive away from the coast and at elevations up to 2000 feet was tested nearly 20 years ago in San Bernardino mountains by T. P. Lukens of Pasadena.

The longevity of this cypress has been long a matter of conjecture, with but little opportunity of determining the age of large trees, which are from 50 to 70 feet in height and from three to sometimes six feet in diameter. Fortunately last year the long looked-for opportunity came of learning something definite about the age of trees through Mr. E. L. Guppy of Pacific Grove. The severe coastal storm of 1917 uprooted a number of medium and large-sized trees in the Cypress Point grove. As the trunks were being sawed into sections Mr. Guppy counted the stump rings of three trees which respectively showed ages of 200, 250 and 300 years, the oldest tree having a trunk diameter of nearly six feet. Strangely enough, however, two other trees of unusually straight, thrifty growth showed respectively only 50 rings for a stump diameter of two feet, and 75 rings for a diameter of three feet. Evidently the Monterey Cypress grows very rapidly in easily permeable soil, the situations occupied by the latter trees, and much more slowly in rocky situations, the sites occupied by the older trees cited.

TULARE PRUNE CROP GOOD
VISALIA, Cal., May 26.—The Tulare county prune crop, now declared to be the largest crop in the history of the industry, may represent ninety percent of the state's harvest of this fruit, it is stated here. Late rains and warm weather have set the fruit wonderfully and tree propping has started, fully a month ahead of schedule.

OWNERS PLAN TO IMPROVE ROADS

A road improvement district is planned to pave Telegraph road from Santa Fe Springs to the Orange County line where it will join with the extension of Central avenue which will be paved by the county.

The action toward a road district followed a conference with Los Angeles county authorities. Supervisor Cogswell stated that while his predecessor had promised that the county would pave the road in question, Los Angeles county had adopted an unwavering rule of requiring the property owners to pay 75 per cent of the cost of improving roads.

He thought, however, that under the circumstances the county would pay 50 per cent in this case. He said the road funds would not possibly stand any more, at present.

BIG BLOWDOWN OF YELLOW PINE

Supervisor Thomas J. Jones of the Inyo national forest, on a recent snowshoe trip into the country north of Mammoth discovered that the winter storms had blown down over two million feet of yellow pine and Douglas fir lumber in his forest. It is believed that the severe windstorm that swept East-ern California on February 12, last, was the cause of this heavy wind-throw. Fortunately, forest officers report that it will be possible to salvage the bulk of the down timber, as the Hess Lumber company of Bishop is operating a government sale in the immediate vicinity.

THRIFTY MAN DESIRES HOME

The theory of being chained to one spot when one owns his home is as much a fallacy as is the opinion that a rented home is better than one that is owned.

In fact, it is only among the shiftless that home ownership is regarded as a millstone around one's neck.

Being a negotiable asset, a home is always salable, in good or fair weather, providing it is suitably located and well built.

To follow in the path traversed by countless thousands of the country's best citizens, get into the home owner class by picking one right now out of the myriads now available.

Do your picking, however, with the aid of a real estate broker who is familiar with the history of the locality where you would prefer to live.

Beyond that you need consult no oracle to tell you that what you buy today, selected and bought, will be worth a great deal more in a few years.

GOLDEN STATE IS RICH IN SCENERY

California is wonderfully rich in natural scenery—perhaps no state in the Union is more fortunate in this regard.

Much of the finest of this scenery lies within easy motoring distance of Los Angeles—much of the finest can even be reached by trolley and a little hiking.

What can this mean to the owner of a home here? Much, very much.

It can mean that the environment of his daily thought life, if I may put it that way, need not be confined to the four walls of his house or to his place of business or to the neighborhood of either.

It can mean that after a day spent in the mountains or canyons of this wonderful state he may carry back into his home many things.

He may carry back, for instance, the melody of purring waters rushing toward the sea, the fragrance and beauty of wild buckthorn, the purple of lupen, the delicate tinting of the Mariposa lily or the golden glow of California poppies.

CEMETERY LOT SALE REQUIRES LICENSE

The sale of a cemetery lot is the sale of real estate, and a dealer cannot, therefore, conduct a sale of such a lot in Wisconsin without a license from the state real estate board, the Wisconsin attorney general's department has ruled.

THREE BIG POINTS IN OUR LIVES

There are three cardinal points in life—food, clothing, and the home.

The first two—food and clothing—are obtained automatically in one manner or another, as a matter of self-preservation and common decency.

The third and equally important point—home, in which life is nourished and conserved—is most essential, whether it be a hovel or a mansion.

Very often this vital necessity is made light of only to cause pain and regrets when winter comes and it's too late to bridge the gap.

Then it is that the lack of an unchallenged shelter, free from any question as to ownership, is bitterly emphasized.

Get a home before your winter time comes. Opportunities to place a permanent roof over the head of yourself and family are as abundant today as ever.

HOME FINDING TO BE CONVENTION TOPIC

Home-finding—home-finding for the nation's families and for the nation's industrial and commercial development will be the keyword of the four-day conference of 6,000 representatives from every branch of real estate activity in the United States and Canada, who will meet in the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Cleveland, June 27-30, for what is expected to be the largest, most detailed and most important convention ever planned for the discussion of real estate affairs.

How the nation's investment money supply may best be released to meet the heavily accumulated national demand for homes, apartments and manufacturing and commercial buildings, how wise public policies may direct and encourage this development, and how realtors, by pooling their experiences in successful business methods, may best carry out their function as the agency of this nation-wide home-finding both for the centering of the individual family life and for the efficient location of industries and commercial enterprises will be the subject which men nationally prominent in the financing and development of real estate will discuss.

Former Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio will speak on "The Present Financial Outlook" before the general opening session of the convention, Brigadier General Herbert M. Lord, director of the bureau of the budget, Washington D. C., will talk on "The Nation's Business."

Louis T. James, vice-president and managing director of the Clearing Industrial district, Chicago, will speak on "Developing an Industrial District," before the opening session of the industrial division of the association, one of the seven sub-conferences for the seven specialized branches of real estate activity into which the general meeting will divide every afternoon. Nelson P. Goodrich, vice-president of the Technical Advisory corporation, New York, will discuss zoning of cities so as to help industrial property. Harry O. Hartzell, manager of the commercial development of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, will talk on the relation of transportation to industrial real estate.

Frank D. Chase, industrial engineer of Chicago and Los Angeles, will discuss factory building. H. B. Hall, of the American Appraisal company, Milwaukee, will speak on industrial appraisals. Col. L. H. Britton, of St. Paul, William H. Dyer, of Cincinnati, and B. L. Lambuth, of Seattle, will speak before the industrial sub-convention on the subjects respectively, of bringing in new industries, making loans on industrial properties, and factors creating industrial property values.

Walter Stabler, comptroller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, will discuss insurance of the mortgage and finance division. Paul Loeber, of Chicago, Frank Adair, of Atlanta, Samuel Stern, of Philadelphia, F. L. Johnson of Chicago, Townley Cuthbertson, of Kansas City, S. N. Reep, of Minneapolis, and C. H. Corbett, of Canton, will speak before the national group of specialists in real estate finance on utilization of modern financial methods in real estate mortgages and loans.

J. C. Nichols, developer of Kansas City's show residential division, will speak before the home builders and subdividers division on zoning as it applies to residential tracts. B. E. Taylor, of Detroit, will tell how he solved there the problem of the working man's home. Guy Greene, of Detroit, will speak on subdivisions developed for apartment house purposes. S. S. Thorpe, Minneapolis, will discuss financing the subdivision. William C. Demorest, New York, will talk on practical improving of the subdivision in relation to the land. L. S. Knight, of Cleveland, will discuss residential building restrictions.

BETTER HOMES FOR AMERICANS URGED

WASHINGTON, May 26.—There are two sides to a ten dollar bill. One side is the effort that goes to earn it; the other is the care and intelligence which go to the spending of it. One side the man's contribution, the other side is the woman's. The whole question of wages is affected by the homemaker's ability to get value for her money.

In such manner Secretary of Labor Davis sets forth the significance of the Better Homes in America campaign to be conducted during the week of June 4 to 10. Secretary Davis is a member of the National Council for Better Homes in America. Other members are Vice-president Coolidge, Secretaries Hoover and Wallace and Mrs. T. G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The campaign is a woman's campaign," says Secretary Davis. "They are taking stock of themselves to see how they fill their side of the bill; they are taking inventory of home values to determine standards."

"The best American wage earners know that the pay check at the end of the week belongs to the family. They know also that a forty-five dollar a week wage does not do as well in some families as a thirty-five dollar a week wage does in others."

"The demonstration houses prepared for Better Homes week in June are concrete educational means of emphasizing the importance of home making, and the increasing necessity of the study of its technique. In the homes is the nation, in the homes is the basis of the best patriotism."

"There is nothing better we can do than make a thorough workmanlike study of the things that make for a better home, with architects, builders, interior decorators, students, musicians, educators and spiritual advisors joining in a definition of home."

The Better Homes campaign began last year in a comparatively small way. The result of the first effort is shown in the preparation of this year of many communities to the campaign week in June, according to those interested in the movement. Many of these have been started by chambers of commerce, others by groups of women or women's clubs.

Besides fitting out the demonstration homes for public view, the movement includes arrangement of lectures, musical, movie and radio programs, essay and poster contests in schools, and other means to draw attention to the home. Many thousands of dollars in prizes will be given locally and nationally in connection with the campaign. An interesting side issue is the preparation of an ideal list of books and musical selections for the home.

In Washington the national headquarters of the General Federation of Women's Clubs sponsored the construction of a replica of the Long Island home of John Howard Payne that inspired him to write "Home Sweet Home." This house will follow every line of the original but it will be built of the best standard modern materials. It is within a short distance from the White House. Ultimately it will be moved to a permanent location where it will be maintained as a better homes demonstration.

man stage to the complex departmental organization will be unraveled in a series of 15-minute talks and visually represented as a special feature of the general convention sessions. Ivan Ackley, of Chicago, will outline the development. Guy Ellis, of Detroit, will advise on organizing a sales force. W. Ross Campbell, of Los Angeles, on use of publicity and advertising. Harry Beckwith, of Portland, Oregon, on how to put a system into the office. F. B. Arnold, of Cleveland, on developing a rental department. Byron V. Kanally, of Chicago, on organizing a mortgage and finance department. J. C. Nichols, of Kansas City, on creating a home building and subdivision department, and George Rieaby, of Toledo, on adding an office school. National Conference on License Law Administration to be Part of Cleveland Convention

A national conference of administrative officers in charge of the operation of state real estate license laws will be held in Cleveland June 28 in connection with the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Real estate commissioners of the 15 states now having such laws have been invited to attend the convention and to give the real estate men generally the benefit of their advice and experience. Florida, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Minnesota, Washington, Georgia, Indiana, Massachusetts, Arkansas and Kentucky are states in which license legislation to eliminate irresponsible or dishonest real estate agents is now a live question.

OPEN YOUR GATES, GLENDALE, AND LET THE WORLD COME IN

WILL THIS CITY GET ITS SHARE OF THE HORDE OF TOURISTS HEADED TOWARD THIS GOLDEN LAND?

C. H. Milham, Secretary of All-Year Club Says 100,000 More People Will Come Here This Year Than Ever Before; What Does This Mean to Glendale?

One hundred thousand more people will visit Southern California during the summer of 1923 than came during the summer of 1922 is the prediction of Mr. C. H. Milham, executive secretary of the All-Year Club of Southern California, in an article recently published in "Western Advertising."

Mr. Milham's estimate, in the light of comparative results from the advertising of this organization, is conservative. During the entire year of 1922 a few more than 15,000 people wrote to the All-Year club for information relative to Southern California in the summer.

With the 1923 advertising campaign scarcely more than half completed, more than 14,000 people have already written for information. Since the careful survey at the end of last summer indicated that 100,000 more people visited Southern California in 1922 than came in 1921, it will be seen that a similar or greater increase may be expected during the coming summer.

The figures for last summer's increase are based on three factors, the number of direct inquiries received, the records of railroad travel and the records of the hotels throughout Southern California.

Every name which was received as a result of the All-Year Club's advertising was turned over to transcontinental railroads which sent eastern representatives to call on the people who had manifested an interest in this section.

The railroad representatives at the end of the season made the statement that eight out of every ten people who inquired were actually coming to California. Mr. Milham continues: "They also found that an average of three to four people were represented by every name."

The largest number of people, however, who were interested by the advertising did not write for information. They called the railroad representative in their city as the advertising urged them to do. Thus they came into direct contact with an aggressive Southern California sales force.

Relative to the actual records of railroad traffic, Mr. Milham says, "In a normally good year, California-bound passenger business was approximately 400,000 persons ported increased business of from 15 to 70 per cent. Several nationally-known resort hotels stated that they had enjoyed the best summer business in their history."

Inasmuch as it is a well recognized fact that a large percentage of the new residents of Southern California come first as visitors, it may be seen how actively the work of the All-Year Club in bringing visitors is also recruiting new population for this section.

The early history and underlying purposes of the All-Year Club are also told by Mr. Milham. He says, "The Club is essentially a Southern California organization, functioning on behalf of every section and community in the Southland, and yet at the same time, it is doing a notable work for all California, and indeed for the entire Pacific Coast."

Moreover its direct influence has extended into the neighboring states, and particularly into the states of the Southwest which adjoins Southern California.

"Broadness of vision on the part of those directing the policy of the All-Year Club, recognizing especially that it is virtually as important to the territory surrounding it as it is to build up this one section, perhaps best explains why the All-Year Club influence has extended over so large a section."

"Essentially the Club believes that while it owes its first duty to Southern California, there should be nothing in that duty which would fail to take cognizance of the wonderful country that characterizes the entire Pacific Coast and the Southwest."

Relative to the needs which induced the formation of the All-Year Club, Mr. Milham says, "The Club had its origin in the belief of many leaders of thought in Southern California, that the Southland was not 'cashing in' as it might on the equability of its climate throughout the year."

"There were comparatively few persons in the country who knew that in most sections of Southern California, it was cool in summer and mild and balmy in winter. Most people—it has been estimated by some that at least 90 per cent of the population of the United States—had thought that because Southern California possessed a delightful winter climate, was internationally known as a winter resort, it must necessarily follow that its summers were hot, and Southern California, therefore, a place to be avoided during the summer months."

"Indeed, students of the situation said that the Southland not only was failing to 'cash in' on its delightful all-year climate, but development was actually being impeded because the mistaken thought regarding the summer kept visitors away during those months, kept investors away, kept industry away."

"There was, then, some recognition of the foregoing. There were companion details of the main thought—that immense investment was tied up for many months in the year, with large overhead expenses, when it should have been receiving dividends, that millions of dollars of new money would flow into Southern California, if the facts regarding its climate throughout the year were known; that there would be no seasonal slowing down of business and related activities in the Southland if the attractiveness of its summer months were properly set forth."

As a result of the recognition of these facts, prominent men in Southern California met several times to discuss conditions during the spring of 1921. Out of these meetings the All-Year Club was born. Immediately a campaign was set in motion to raise the necessary funds for advertising.

Fifty thousand dollars were raised by the first of July, 1921, and by the middle of the same month, advertising began to appear in the newspapers of the Middle West. Mr. Milham continues: "Its results were felt in a remarkably short time. Where just a short time before the advertisements appeared, there had been a sharply noticeable lack of visitors in Southern California—it was at the period when the copper, cotton and cattle situations were at their worst, so that the usual visitors from Arizona, Utah, New Mexico and Western Texas were practically nil—now, shortly after the advertisements came out, the visitors were noticeable in numbers."

"Furthermore the railroads found that they were suddenly increasing their passenger business to California's Southland by actual leaps and bounds. The railroad figures did not begin to approximate what they had in the summer of 1920, nor that of the preceding year, but when reports of the period affected by the All-Year Club's advertising were read, the figures made clear that a remarkable stimulation had been given to incoming California travel."

"This first advertising effort of the Club was, in effect, a 'show me' campaign. It was intended to demonstrate that the idea back of the All-Year Club was sound—that through advertising effort people actually could be induced to visit Southern California. The case was proved so well that increased financial support was promptly forthcoming, and in the winter of 1921-1922, it was possible to map out a comprehensive plan for 1922."

In the same way, the results of the 1922 campaign, described previously,

WOODLAND SCENE IN FLINTRIDGE HIGHLANDS

A model home costing $12,500 designed, built and furnished ready for occupancy within seventy days.

This is the novel building program that will be inaugurated at Flintridge Highlands by the management of the property. On Monday the grounds will be cleared; on Tuesday the driveways and walks will be built; on Wednesday the excavation work will be commenced. In slightly more than two months time the house is scheduled to be entirely completed and furnished with the grounds attractively planted and landscaped.

The Flintridge management is taking this means of calling the public's attention both to the speed with which attractive homes can be erected and to the fascinating possibilities of home building in Flintridge Highlands. One of the typical Flintridge Highland sites has been selected for the demonstration. The site, like scores of others in this picturesque region, commands a wide view of the whole range of the Sierra Madre and the La Canada Valley spread out below. A chart has been mounted on a bulletin board before the property, showing the progressive stages of erection with the time each step is to consume.

The public, always interested in the erection of attractive homes, will be given every encouragement to visit the property on Sundays and holidays. The entire Flintridge Highland region is now accessible from the lower levels of Flintridge over the new roads recently opened to traffic.

By easy grades the new scenic drive skirts the hills and spans the road discloses new homesites commanding magnificent views for miles around. The work of installing gas, water and electric lines is now being rushed to completion.

Instead of using a regular wash bench, it is much easier to use two chairs that have no backs and which have been mounted on casters; then you can wash them around where you want them.

WHEN PLASTERING ON ADOBE WALLS

In plastering on adobe walls, it is not advisable to use half lime and half mud for the first coat as the exterior finish would collapse when rain struck it. The proper method is to drive two eight-penny nails into each brick with the heads projecting three-eighths of an inch. The first coat should be a mixture of cement and sand barely covering the brick and put on with a white-wash brush.

The second coat should be of patent cement plaster with only enough hydrated lime to make it work properly. Finish with stucco silica sand. This all applies to the exterior coat; for interior work, a first coat of some good patent plaster dashed on in a very thin layer is necessary. The joints between the bricks should be raked to furnish a good key, then finish off in the usual way with a good grade of patent plaster.

CASTLE HEIGHTS IS NAME FOR NEW TRACT

Mrs. Clara S. Fischer Wins Prize in Naming Contest

Castle Heights is the name chosen for the new tract to be subdivided soon by the Hamlin & Hepburn real estate firm of 203 West Broadway.

Considerable interest was shown in the contest which took place last week when the firm offered a $10 prize to the one suggesting the best name for the tract, which is located north of Kenneth road.

The prize was won by Mrs. Clara S. Fischer, 127½ South Adams street, whose suggestion was thought to be the most appropriate out of all of names suggested. This tract is to be opened for reservations soon, it is announced.

ARCHITECTS PLAY TO SMALL MAN

Realizing the need of bringing together the small builder and the competent architect, a group of Minneapolis architects about three years ago set themselves to working out a plan for accomplishing that end.

They had learned from experience that the architect could not afford to design a small dwelling and give to such work his complete service for what the average home builder thought he could afford to pay, but they believed that a group of architects might do collectively what one alone could not do.

SOME TREES ARE SHORT LIVED

Trees that mature real quickly are invariably short-lived and possess other undesirable qualities.

It is far better to plant trees that will be beautiful in 25 years, venerable in a hundred and thriving even at 200 years, than it is to plant some rapidly-growing thing that will have lived and passed its prime, by its twenty-fifth year.

The live oak is a tree of long life, it is beautiful, it naturally thrives in California and it meets the requirements for a street tree.

ADMIRE TREES? SEE GLENOAKS

Improvements Are Being Made to Frank Meline
Company Tract

A delightful, restful picture spot is Glenoaks, nesting back of the noise of traffic and work-a-day world, away from the sound of anything but the song of birds, the sighing of the breeze through the trees.

There are trees and more trees, most of them giant oaks, which give the tract its name. Mountain trails, bridle paths, hammock groves, spring water—and a free bus to the car line and schools, all of which combine to make manifold the attractions of Glenoaks.

All improvements are included in the purchase price of lots in Glenoaks. The lots are sold on an initial payment of 15 per cent. There are large picturesquely located lots ranging from 1/4 to 1/2 acre in size covered with fruit trees and offering peculiar advantages to those who desire to build the large residence.

The Frank Meline company is offering this tract. Improvements are being completed at a rapid rate. Curving paved boulevards will not only lead to the tract but will wind in and out among the shady oaks.

The directions for arriving at Glenoaks are for the motorist to drive out East Broadway, Glendale, to Ventura road, then turn to the north three blocks to a large sign which indicates the direction in which the tract lies.

MULTIPLE LISTING FACTS SENT OUT

Digest of the experiences of approximately 100 real estate boards with the practice of multiple listing is embodied in a set of suggestive regulations for multiple listing which is being sent out this week to all member boards by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The regulations, it is hoped, will answer the questions of many boards who are working out the new and growing plan for cooperative selling. Copies of the suggested regulations may be had from Chicago headquarters of the association.

SASH COMPANY TO BUILD
Ground has been broken for the new plant of the Pacific Sash & Door House, to be located on the south side of San Fernando road, east of Brand boulevard.

Twenty-five acres was purchased by the company a few months ago, since that time plans have been perfected for the removal of the entire plant, which is valued at $200,000, to the new site. Angeles is the contractor.

USE OF TERM "REALTOR SHOWN"

General use of the term, "realtor," and increasing understanding of the limitation of its correct use to mean "member of a real estate board having membership in the National Association of Real Estate Boards" is shown in tabulation of a questionnaire on prevalence of adoption of the word recently sent out by the national association to its member boards. In only one board of the 162 answering do board members fail to use the title indicating their subscription to the association's code of business ethics, the reports show, though one Canadian board makes its answer a deal in futures, "Not yet." The term is used 100 per cent in 65 boards.

Newspapers in 123 of the 162 cities represented use the word in their news columns. Of these 121 are reported as using it correctly. A generally favorable newspaper attitude and a pronounced disposition toward cooperation between local boards and the newspapers of their community is indicated in the misuse of the term newspapers are mentioned as sometimes offenders in 32 cities.

SELECT TREES WITH CARE

In addition to the fact that a street tree would be of upright growth and spreading habit, and resistant to drought and abuse, in order to fulfill the requirements of the use to which it is put it should also be a tree that does not distribute profuse litter over the pavement.

There are trees, such as the pepper, the chief objection to which is the quantity of seeds and foliage which they drop to the ground.

CALIFORNIA MAY AID HOMEBUILDER

State aid to the small home builder is the plan now before the California senate, which is being studied with interest by members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The bill, the result of an investigation of housing conditions made by the state immigration and housing commission at the request of the legislature, would appropriate $2,000,000 to initiate the plan, under which the commission would have authority to loan money to homebuilders and home buyers.

The applicant would be charged five per cent interest, and would have not more than 40 years in which to complete payment. He must agree to live in his home, to keep it in repair, and, if requested, carry fire insurance on it.

HOMER OWNER HAS HIGHER STANDING

The man who owns his own home in the last analysis has the greater standing in his community and among his business and social circles.

He is never worried as to his foundation—the home—"sitting pretty," as it were, content in his knowledge that he has done his duty to his wife and children and that he can go on unmolested, or if occasion arises sell his home.

The keys of a piano sometimes have a knack of remaining down after having been struck. If the offending key is gently raised a little and the front edge rubbed with a lead pencil (black), it will be found to work quite properly.

HOME GARDEN TALKS—NO. 1

A home garden is a small body of land entirely surrounded by bad results.

No backyard is complete without one. That is why so many people are giving up houses with backyards and moving into apartments.

In an apartment one can have a beautiful and successful home garden, four inches wide by six inches long, done in water color by Nutting. Everything in the garden is ripe when you hang it on the wall. You never have to hoe it.

Home gardens reached their zenith during the world war. More people were permanently injured in them than in the army. Many a man went over the top only to be put out of action by his own hoe.

During the war a lot of Americans went through three years of intensive straining under the impression the war was being fought to make the world safe for early spring radishes, kale and Hubbard squash.

They were wrong about everything except the kale.

People who served in home gardens during the war were known as the Home Gardeners. You can't get them to touch a garden in any form today.

The demobilization ceremonies were very impressive. Each home gardener was decorated with the Order of the Backward Cucumber, given the Congressional Medal for Distinguished Weeding, and sent home for observation.

They organized the American Grand Army of Retrogressive Radish Raisers, took an oath to eat nothing but meat from that day on, and proceeded to erect homes for the care of comrades suffering from Pea-Shelling Shock.

America had more home gardens during the war than any nation on earth. Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Turnips at Washington showed that warms had their biggest season of productivity. On a per capita basis, every citizen was estimated to be entitled to 23,456 worms. If he was a home gardener he got 'em.

Home gardens have not been going so good in the past few years, but there are some people who continue to take their punishment in this way. The charm, if any, of home gardening lies in the fact that, no matter what you plant, you never know what you may get. A seed taken from a handsomely colored package labelled "Cavendish Pluribus Acaerumbrus," meaning Early Spring Endive, may bring forth a Chinese water lily, a three-minute egg, a Ford radiator cap, or an order of sweet potatoes.

The first step in home gardening is to lay out the garden. The next step is to lay out the gardener.

The next step is to buy the necessary tools. This can be done for between $300 and $400. Shop-lifters have done it for less, but it is very hard to get out of a store with a hoe, rake, spade and harrow under one's coat.

You then till the soil. This gives the neighbors a big laugh. Then you pick your seeds. Much time can be saved by planting ball-bearings out of an old bicycle wheel.

Water, weed, and worry regularly. Shake well and lay in a cool, dry place until next season.

NORTH BRAND LOT IS SOLD

Paul Perera has purchased from J. P. Browne the property on the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and Dryden street in North Glendale, for a consideration of $20,500.

The property has a frontage of 200 feet on Brand and 225 on Dryden. It has a six-room residence and the new owner will improve a portion of the frontage with a bungalow court.

PLANS READY FOR NEW BUILDING

Preliminary plans are now ready and a Glendale company completing organization to finance the erection of a two-story concrete building that will cost $100,000 to be located on the south side of the Southern Pacific railway just east of Brand boulevard.

The building, to be erected by the W. A. Heitman Construction company, will be 154 feet long by 150 wide, the front to contain eight stores.

FLINTRIDGE HAS MODEL HOME TO BE BUILT

Clear Grounds on Hill for Structure Which Is Southland's Ideal

The work of preparing the ground for the model home which is to be built at Flintridge Highlands is rapidly being completed.

This home is to show the possibilities to be found in a foothill site. The sage brush, live oaks and trees are being cleared where necessary and a large, stately home is to be built and completely furnished.

Flintridge Highlands offers some of the few available residence sites in the Flintridge district. To the motorist who has passed through this section, little needs to be said regarding the location.

Picturesque in every detail, the motorist will experience a constant change of delightful scenery, curving boulevards, and the evidence of the character of the property borne out by the spacious homes of distinguished property owners, already erected in this vicinity.

Much interest has been shown in this model home, and hundreds of prospective buyers have visited the spot, in order to appreciate the work that is to be done in completing the home.

When the house is erected it will be completely furnished and the grounds will be laid out, lawns sown, and shrubbery set. This home is planned to be one of the most inviting in the southland—the ideal home built in an ideal location.

SELECTING TREES FOR THE HOME

It is far more preferable to choose a species of tree for the home place that will endure the conditions of soil and exposure, and that will compose well with the cross section and general scale of the street, for all streets can be cleaned.

A very common error in the choice of varieties for roadside planting is the selection of some tree that is naturally adapted to soil or climatic conditions of the particular locality.

CENTRAL AVE.

The Central Avenue Improvement Association was organized Wednesday evening, May 23, 1923, for the purpose of assisting in the development of Central Avenue.

It is proposed to make this the one real boulevard of the city, next to Brand.

In order to do so, the Association is circulating petitions to pave with 6-inch asphalt concrete from Broadway south to San Fernando Road; also to erect light standards similar to the ones on San Fernando Road, except that iron may be used instead of cement; also to widen to 100 feet. The latter two propositions cover the entire street within the city of Glendale.

All parties owning property on Central Ave. or who are interested in its welfare are invited to participate in the discussions.

The next meeting will be held at 110 West Broadway at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, May 29. Incidentally, keep in mind that we are offering some choice buys between Colorado and Lexington, which are bound to show a substantial profit.

For instance:

50 feet front between Wilson and Broadway, at $17,000; with a good house rentable at $60. $7000 down.

S. W. corner Lexington and Central, 61x-145, with a small 8-room bungalow. Only $17,000; $9000 down.

106x188—the grandest piece on the street. Only $35,000.

SPARR HEIGHTS IS GLENDALE'S COMIN RIVAL CITY

The Beauty of Its Surroundings and Location Is Fitted Background

"Land is the basis of all value" is one of the axioms of business, and the value of land indubitably rests upon population. Nowhere in the Union can any state show a greater percentage of addition to its population in a given area than in the vicinity of Los Angeles, and nowhere is the percentage of that increase greater than in the communities of which Sparr Heights, from its location, is the logical center. These communities only have direct access to the city through Glendale, by the Verdugo Road, the great highway that runs entirely through the tract, and as it were is the drain for the traffic and might be likened to the neck of a funnel formed by the hills upon three sides of the Verdugo valley.

Sparr Heights is planning to become a town, the rival in the course of time, of Hollywood and Glendale. The beauty of its surroundings, its strategic location and the character of those owning and developing the property are all working together to make this possible, and business recognizing its opportunity to make favorable location, is building handsome and permanent structures in preparation for the incoming population. Publicity has already been given to the extensive residential projects under way and they are progressing favorably. Within a short time a unique and beautiful bungalow court of twenty-five units will be started and the Oakmont County Club is contemplating a fifty thousand dollar building upon its site overlooking its course.

This Country Club will have one of the most extensive and perfect golf-courses in the country. Its grounds, comprising 129 acres, are now being graded and prepared for seeding. Imported seed, "German Bent Grass" will be used for the purpose, as it forms a soft springy turf, spreads rapidly and

MOUNTAINS BRING ARTISTS TO CALIF.

The proximity of the canyons and mountains has brought many talented artists to this sunny south-land, men who know how to catch and place permanently on canvas the fleeting mystery of distant hills, the elusive charm of running water or the subtle reflections of quiet canyon pools.

When hung in our homes paintings of this kind help to preserve for us the joy of vacation days spent out of doors; they do this because they represent the most fortunate of nature's moods, rare compositions of color and light and shade in mountain, stream or woodland, similar effects to which we perhaps saw but which the artist caught and preserved.

This is one great service of fine paintings. They perpetuate for us the charm of the out of doors, the essence of its beauty as distilled by the more active imaginations and trained talent of artists.

One of the fortunate things about owning a home in Southern California is that pleasures such as these are so easily within reach that they may become frequent and refreshing influences in our lives.

PLENTY OF HOMES TO GO AROUND

New homes and old ones of varying kinds and prices are readily available.

Home ownership is the first step toward independence and the provision for the closing days of your life work.

It should be made the first investment, thereby laying the cornerstone of a substantial foundation for your future, which is just as essential to every career as is the stocking of a factory with raw material to keep its machinery humming.

has the excellent quality of killing out all other vegetable growth.

The sales at Sparr Heights continue to be exceedingly satisfactory, and the character of the buyers demonstrate that here where it is possible to found the ideal home the nucleus of an ideal community is already formed, and that every facility for education, social amusement and supplying domestic needs is being provided. Public transit by bus and electric cars serves the tract and brings Sparr Heights into close communication with Glendale, Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Elizabeth Brown, winner of a second prize, a Choral club ticket for next year, value $4.

Florence Franklin won a second prize $2 merchandise order given by Dr. V. P. Ervin.

The pupils of Miss Brown's room were the highest, scoring with more than 100 marks in the examination than those in any other room.

The John Muir junior high school gave four $1 prizes to the highest scoring pupil who did not enter a notebook. They were won by Nellie Mae Kinnard, Lillian Lewis, Leona Fischer, and Norman Line, the two highest in each grade.

Besides the pupils winning prizes the following ten deserve mention because of their excellent work:

Victoria Ackerly scoring 99 in the examination.

Loren Ludlow—98.

George Baker—98.

Edna Jackson—96 1/2.

Alberta Swall—96 1/4.

Carol Robbins—94 1/2.

Betty Enyart—91.

John Scribner—83.

"It is interesting to note that one-half of these ten honor students are boys. This proves that boys can appreciate good music as well as jazz," said Miss Freyburger, when telling of the list.

The Daily Press and the children are deeply appreciative of the helpful encouragement given by the principal of the building, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Thomas has arranged assembly hours, talks and programs which have given an added stimulus to the study of the music.

Without his daily assistance through the past eight weeks the children would not have had the pleasure in the course that they have had.

Miss Freyburger, supervisor of the music at the school, who had charge of the work, said the study course would not have been the success it was without the help of Miss Brown, Miss Rate and Mrs. Schultz. They explained the selections to the pupils in a way that made them remember the characteristic of each selection. The highest scoring contestants were members of Miss Brown's room with nearly every one making an excellent grade.

The papers were easily judged. Twenty selections which were played were each given 2 1/2 points, the twenty composers 2 1/2 with 1/2 off for spelling; so a pupil won 5 on every one or missed by a fraction of a point.

The winner, Margaret Woods, had a perfect paper. Wilfred Haffinger and Edith Stolper had perfect papers but their notebooks with the clippings in were not the equal of Isabel Keppie's or Margaret Woods', so the grade on the notebook was not 100. Therefore, they tied for the second prize of $10 given by the Burbank Music Shop and it was split in half, giving them $5 each.

Mr. Thomas has a very young daughter at home a few miles from Burbank, and was not able to be present at the final concert.

Superintendent Collins introduced Nicholas Devereux to the audience.

Mr. Devereux, celebrated pianist, then, as chairman of the evening, introduced the young boy violinist, Clyde Gates.

Mr. Gates, in brilliant, impulsive fashion played three numbers: "Sigmundsen" (Sarasate), "Ave Maria" (Schubert), and "Romanza Andaloza" (Sarasate). His dashing, sparkling interpretation of the music was heartily applauded but he refused to play an encore, merely coming back to bow.

Mr. Devereux accompanied him for the first number. The second number the Ampico Chickering played. Youngsters looked about for the pianist not realizing for some time that it was the Ampico playing the accompaniment, so wonderful were the tones of the music.

Charles King, who is to join the Metropolitan Grand Opera company in New York next year sang a group of three numbers: "Tutill" (Sanderson), "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak), and aria from Pagliocci (Leoncavallo). The audience wanted him to come back with more songs but he only responded with a bow.

Mr. Devereux completed the program of the out-of-town artists which were secured by the courtesy of the Burbank Music Shop, through the Southern California Music Company. Interest was added to the beautiful playing of Mr. Devereux by his explanation of the story of his numbers. He had a charming manner in speaking. He told the story of the "Lorelei" and his second number, "Egeria" (Kreager), Mr. Devereux told the love story of the ancient heroine of mythology. His telling of the romantic story and picturing it out on the piano made it infinitely more interesting to the ones not trained in music and helped all to a better understanding of the music.

Another interesting feature of his numbers was his brief explanation of the marvelous playing of the Ampico, "Canned music" as usually heard prejudices the musically inclined because of its mechanical sounds but with the Ampico it was impossible to tell when the musician was playing, when he stopped, when he began and when the Ampico continued the playing. The demonstration was so interesting that immediately after the concert was over musicians were talking of hoping to hear another Ampico concert soon.

Following Mr. Devereux, Mrs. Louise Kirkpatrick, accompanied by a skillful young pianist, Miss Frances Colburn, sang two numbers, "The Land of the Sky Blue Water" (Cadman), one of the numbers studied by the children, and "Russian Snow Song" (Herman Lohr). Mrs. Kirkpatrick, who has endeared herself to friends of art through her contributions to the musical life of Burbank, graciously responded to the insistent demand for an encore.

Mrs. Zeter Alcott Sparrow closed the concert with her two numbers, "Hark, Hark the Lark" (Schubert), and "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" (Rachmaninoff). Both of these numbers have been studied by the children and therefore they were able to understand the significance of the music to a vastly greater extent. They were enabled to observe closely and study details of her interpretation. The audience realized it was a rare treat to have Mrs. Sparrow play. The soft, flowing melody of Schubert's Lark contrasted effectively with the big, crashing chords of the Russian's composition.

Comments heard among the large number in the auditorium as they were leaving showed that the entire program was a delight.

Mayor J. C. Crawford announced the names of the prize winners at the end of the concert. In witty vein he humorously outlined the aim of the contest and its achievement. He spoke of his enjoyment of the very wonderful tone qualities of the Ampico and of the fine concert.

Parents and children were immensely pleased to have the mayor show interest in their study of better music for many men as busy as the mayor is feel they have not the time to spare for children and this attention to their affairs made them happy. The mayor was not the only busy man to give time to the children for Superintendent Collins had been exceedingly busy all day, so busy that he had hardly had time to eat.

Any man's gratitude is always at its best just before you do him a favor.

C. OF C. DINNER CAMERA CLUB FANS IS LARGELY ATTENDED INVITED TO MEET MAY 31

Spirit of Co-operation Stamps Program of Evening

The outstanding feature of the Burbank chamber of commerce dinner Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church was the clever response of the merchants of the town when called upon by the secretary, R. W. Colburn, to give their names and business. From Mr. Erickson who started farming 40 years ago to the young man who just arrived in the city everyone had an interesting announcement to make. When Mr. Cross was called upon he said he was the cross in the Ramp Cross Furniture store. Mr. Hollomon of DeMoss & Hollomon started to tell of his business and one of his hearers said he should pay $1.75 for advertising.

W. J. Riley, president of the chamber of commerce, served as toastmaster of the evening. Charles Bayre, manager of organization service of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, told of the work which the chamber of commerce does in organizing. He told of the Lankershim chamber of commerce, which has a membership of 530 and a sustaining fund of $7000. He told of the work in organizing San Fernando which has an enrollment of 500 and a sustaining fund of $1100. The work in Santa Monica and Glendale was outlined.

Charles Wood spoke for a few minutes on the wonders of California. The spirit of cooperation was the theme of the entire evening.

Mrs. Estella B. Ervin played for the community singing which was led by Mr. Meyer. Rev. Thomas Stevenson offered the invocation.

The chicken pie was the foundation of the very fine dinner which everyone enjoyed. Everything, starting with fruit cocktail, was included in the meal. The tables were decorated with golden brown flowers.

KRISTINE KRUM PLAYS VIOLIN IN HOLLYWOOD

Fourteen Year Old Girl Is Youngest Artist on Program

The youngest person to take part on the program given by the Hollywood music teachers at the Women's club building in Hollywood Friday evening was Kristine May Krum, granddaughter of Mrs. May Clarke of the Santa Rosa apartments.

The music teachers gave the concert their contribution to Music week. Mme. Beatrice de Trosst presented Miss Elizabeth Constantin in an Armenian program. The music teachers each presented one advanced pupil for the program.

Kristine May Krum, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Fisher at the piano, played the first movement of Rode's Concerto. Little Miss Krum is a pupil of Miss Bessie Capin of Hollywood.

Educational sharps claim that college life makes a man more alert mentally. The proposition is that you don't go to college to absorb a mass of general information—you go there to learn to think. A couple of magnates were having an argument about it. To end it, one of them sent to the outer office for a college graduate in his employ. They asked him to state frankly if college life had made of him a quicker thinker.

"Yes," said he without hesitation, "the two years I spent on second base did me a world of good."

BURBANK TO SEND PAMPHLETS TO OTHER STATES

Chamber of Commerce Will Try Personal Advertising

The chamber of commerce is getting out a new publicity plan. Everyone in Burbank will be asked to give a personal list to the chamber of commerce of friends "back east" or "down south" or "up north." Then a Burbank chamber of commerce booklet, depicting the truth about the town will be mailed to the people listed. In with the booklet will be a letter saying Mrs. Blank or Mrs. Blank or Vera Blank gave me your name.

This personal magnet system is expected to bring the greatest results for the least money of any publicity scheme that can be carried out. The booklet which has been in the making for many months is nearly completed and will be ready for mailing shortly. This method has been chosen rather than that of advertising in the Los Angeles papers.

PURELY PERSONAL

Miss Maude Buchanan and Miss Vera Fisher of Pasadena are the houseguests of Mrs. Estella B. Ervin and her son, Dr. V. P. Ervin, whose home is on North Verdugo avenue.

The property man in a London movie studio appeared carrying an iron, not a curling iron, but a laundry iron. "What on earth is that for?" he was asked. "Why," was the reply; "doesn't the script say, Carter meets Floria and presses his suit?"

When a man is looking for trouble few of his friends are too busy to assist in the search.

Truths in Epigram

How does the poet speak to men with power, but by being still more a man than they.—Carlyle.

I will be as harsh as truth, and as uncompromising as justice.—Garrison.

One merit of poetry few persons will deny it: it says more and in fewer words than prose.—Voltaire.

PROPER STUDENT MATERIAL

Presidents of universities have become much stirred over the question of student fitness. According to Prof. Gayley, an instructor of many years' experience, only one-third of the students are fit. The others should be elsewhere, because as students, they are foredoomed to failure. Moreover their presence hampers the cause of education, since the institutions imparting education are now filled to beyond the saturation point. This view easily might be construed as favoring an aristocracy of intelligence. It could, however, be regarded as meaning that the rejected quota, turning their mental activities to special lines, would be within reach of success in a chosen field.

Since the great war there has been such a demand for education as never before existed. Young men and women crowd to the universities, high schools are overflowing, and night schools thronged. The very fact that the individual seeks to be educated, would indicate at least a degree of fitness; indicate the presence of a worthy ambition. Solution of the problem would seem, to the lay observer, to rest with the executives themselves. If a large proportion of the applicants deserve to be rejected, then a test of proposed entrants suggests itself as a proper and wholesome measure. It is customary now to accept credentials based on markings accorded by preparatory schools of various sorts.

If the hopeful seeker after education in the liberal arts is turned away, for his own good, and the good of the successful and welcomed individual, it would be cruel to leave him without recourse. He still must be regarded as in need of training, and as having full right of it.

KNOCKING THE SPIRITS

A scientist explains the death of an explorer of Pharaoh Tutankhamen's tomb, and the illness of some of his associates, by a simple fact. They were the victims of arsenic. This drug had been used in preserving the distinguished cadaver of the pharaoh. The air of the tomb was permeated with the fumes, sealed up, and the fumes could not escape. When the pick of the alien adventurer broke the walls of the sepulchre, the welder got a blast of arsenic. He worked in poison-laden air. This soaked into his system, and, according to his power of physical resistance, made him sick, or killed him. All very lucid, explicit and convincing.

Part of the value of the information lies in the fact that it knocks the malign essence out of the Conan Doyle brand of superstition. According to Doyle, the disasters had been caused by malevolent spirits set on guard there more than three thousand years ago. Patiently had these waited for a chance to fire a fatal dart into the invader. Three thousand weary years, with not a day off, nothing to do but watch; getting no news from outside, would have been almost too much to ask even of a naughty spirit. A strike for easier hours and better working conditions would have been inevitable.

Strange as it may seem, the theory of Doyle had been accepted by some. Science comes timely to their rescue. They are given the opportunity to revise their opinions, and think in terms of sanity, surely a boon to be welcomed.

SERENE OLD AGE

Cicero wrote, quite ably, too, concerning old age. Many a young student of Latin has pored over the volume, not quite sensing the beauty of it. However, even the astute Cicero lacked the inspiration that might have been his had he deferred his span of mortal existence, and been permitted the joy of experiencing it in southern California. This is the age of young men, of course, as frequently remarked. But age is not measured so much in years now.

Despite the fact that men continue active long after the record in the family Bible tells them that they ought to have been retired for a decade, there is a serene old age that gladly accepts the status, and, making no pretense of youth, has its comforts and joys. The suave climate of this region has invited the presence of many of this type. Their work over, their time of leisure come, they still find that life has zest and charm. They form little coteries; not all for reminiscence, and in no part for lamenting. The old look back a long way, but they also look forward. They plan for tomorrow with all the faith of children.

Recently there was a jolly party in Pasadena in celebration of the 95th birthday anniversary of the host. Thirty-three who had passed the ninety-year mark were among those present, and a pleasant time was had by all. Such a gathering was not without precedent in this community. It is not infrequent for a centenarian to be a guest. But it was, just the same, a notable gathering, quite unlikely to be duplicated elsewhere.

LEADERSHIP

President Von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California, in a recent address before the University Club of Pasadena, laid stress on the need of leadership. He had reference to the leadership of the individual as towards the nation, and of the nation as towards the world. In this he was touching upon a vital topic.

There are various problems of immediate importance the solution of which may be humanly possible, but there is no formula yet devised. Tentative suggestions, from one group, derided by the next group as absurd; of these there are plenty.

This country has a duty towards the Orient, towards the Near East and Europe generally. It has a duty hardly less pressing towards Mexico and South America. Who shall bring out of the complexities a plan adequate for meeting the concurrent emergencies? Whoever could do this, would be worthy of leadership. In the joy with which he would be welcomed, it is safe to assume that partisanship would be forgotten.

The world, not less than the individual nation needs a leadership. This renders more stupendous the responsibilities of the United States. It was in this country the idea of making a league of nations took form. For years the subject had been discussed and favorably considered. When the settlement following the great war gave opportunity for its presentation in concrete shape, the very men who had advocated it most warmly, turned against it. They did so because their devotion to party was greater than their devotion to the country, and led them to ignore the needs of civilization at large.

One of the republics of South America, learning that the United States had proposed definitely a League of Nations, quickly endorsed the project; and was first on this continent to enter it. Then the United States repudiated its own sentiment. The republic that, out of respect, had sought to follow it, became mentally confused at a course that must have seemed to it little less than a breaking of actual betrayal. This was no example of noble leadership. It was unworthy the people of a great country.

A HEREDITARY HABIT

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Adam began it in the Garden of Eden and his sons kept it up to the present day.

I mean laying the blame on women. We get it for everything, for what we do and for what we do not do. There isn't a boy past 20 in the country who does not feel fully equipped to write a treatise on women and who would not feel indignant and injured if nobody took his work seriously. Criticizing us is the great national outdoor and indoor sport; and so general is the note of condemnation of femininity in that I sometimes wonder if the boys are not in this way getting even with the sex that spanked them, their masculine pride thus soothing itself and seeking to establish a superiority complex.

The latest sin of which I have heard masculinity complain is what the complainant declares a feminine tendency to be ashamed of a humble past.

We are, it appears, snobbish, less democratic than our sons and husbands and in addition suffering from a perverted vision. A self-made woman just can't be proud of herself while a self-made man goes about loudly proclaiming the fact. So much for the indictment.

What is the answer? The answer is that from time immemorial the past has been harder for a woman to live down than for a man, and it is human nature to keep in the background anything which is likely to cause trouble and complications.

A man who rises by virtue of brains and hard work can easily find beauty to serve him. Age is no bar to matrimony and ugliness handicaps no male who boasts a fat bank account.

But the woman who rises through her own efforts must sacrifice much in the struggle, youth, sometimes, health and a generous portion of that ignorance so greatly esteemed by certain men seeking wives.

Moreover, many men hold sacred the prejudice that a struggle with poverty connotes a struggle for virtue and that the self-made woman is by reason of her struggle an object of, if not suspicion, at least of investigation. She is suspected of that heinous crime, strong-mindedness, as well as of looking down on others. If she desires to marry—and what normal woman does not?—a confession that she has made herself fixes on her the thought of a "superiority complex" and the masculine population moves away.

It is not snobbishness, but self-protection that induces the self-made woman to allow somebody else to take the credit for her achievements.

Then finally, we still regard marriage for woman a bigger achievement than the making of a career, and if the career is going to inhibit the marriage a wise woman keeps mute about the career and the years that went into its making.

Even with silence the self-made woman is likely to find herself sought by only inferior men because the average man still feels more flattered when a fool married him for his money than when a genius married him for himself.

A distorted view of life? No such thing; a true sense of values, rather, and a desire to get something that every feminine dunce takes as her natural right, the love of a man and the hope of home and children.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?

(Find the error in this article)

J. O. Ball has written to "The Right Word" as follows: "The first sentence below is taken from Kate Gordon's book, 'Esthetics.' The sentence has been criticized, and three suggestions have been made for improving it. We are in doubt as to which sentence is best.

"Original: 'A more brilliant and transparent color effect can be obtained by this impressionistic method of blending than by the ordinary direct mixture of pigments on a palette.'

"Suggestion, 1: This impressionistic method of blending gives a more brilliant and transparent color effect than can be obtained by the direct mixture of pigments on a palette."

"Suggestion, 2: To obtain a brilliant and transparent color effect, this impressionistic method of blending is better than the ordinary direct mixture of pigments on a palette."

"Suggestion, 3: By the use of this impressionistic method of blending it is possible to obtain a more brilliant and transparent color effect than by the ordinary mixture of pigments on a palette."

"The Right Word" chooses the original, which is grammatically direct, clear, and forceful. The fault in the first suggestion is the unnecessary change from the active voice to the passive. The sentence might pass muster as follows: "...than that obtained by . . . or, . . . than the direct mixture of pigments on a palette (gives)."

The word better could be improved upon in the second suggestion, "The Right Word" suggesting "more effective." Also, the beginning of the sentence is not so strong as that of the original.

The third suggestion is best of the three, but not so direct and forceful as the original.

You are invited to write in your opinion.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

In the old days we had "grab bags." If you are middle aged, perhaps you remember them.

If you are young, they may have gone out of being before you came here.

For many things have changed in the past twenty years.

A little more than twenty years ago, the motor car was a rare sight.

Thirty years ago they were dimly dreamed of.

And there was much in the papers regarding the so-called "horseless carriage."

Now there is a motor in every home, or near it.

California has issued a million licenses for motor cars.

Most of the million you will see on the road any time you choose to walk or drive out. Roads, streets, vacant lots full of them.

And sometimes you wonder what all the people who are driving about in them were doing before we had motors.

And what they are doing now.

And where they are all going.

For almost every hour of the day there are millions of people in the United States on wheels.

Transporting themselves hither and thither.

But to get back to the grab-bag:

The grab-bag was what it says it was.

A bag full of odds and ends of things into which you thrust your hand after paying a certain small sum.

And you grabbed something and brought it out.

That was your prize or reward.

Songs of the Poets

A Moral In Seville—By Mildred Howells

Upon my mantel-piece they stand,
While all its length between them lies;
He throws a kiss with graceful hand;
She glances back with bashful eyes.

The china Shepherdess is fair,
The Shepherd's face denotes a heart
Burning with ardor and despair.

Alas, they stand so far apart!

And yet, perhaps, if they were moved,
And stood together day by day.

Their love had not so constant proved,
Nor would they still have smiled so gay.

His hand the Shepherd might have kissed
The matchbox Angel's heart to win;
The Shepherdess, his love have missed,
And flirted with the Mandarin.

But on my mantel-piece they stand,
While all its length between them lies;
He throws a kiss with graceful hand,
She glances back with bashful eyes.

ALL REFORMERS ARE ABSURD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IN WAGNER'S "Parsifal" a reference is made to the Divine prophecy that the "pure fool" is to come and redeem the race.

Almost all the forward hunches of this balking world have been because fools pushed.

If we waited for the wisdom and common sense of mankind to advance us we should never move forward.

About all the world uses its wisdom for is to find out reasons for staying as it is or going back to what it was.

And if we reflect a little we shall see that it is entirely unreasonable for us to expect any program for the improvement of society to be quite sane.

For sanity consists in adjustment to what is, and the very purpose of reform is to alter what is. So every great forward swing of the race has begun in uproar.

The rise of modern democracy took place to the accompaniment of the bloody French Revolution and the violent revolt of the American colonies.

The world is now swinging into the business era, for business and not politics is to be the occupation of mankind; that is, eventually men are going to be occupied in war against the obstacles of Nature, against disease and ignorance, and not in war with each other.

So the great men of the future are going to be the kind of generals and field marshals who house and clothe and teach and cure, and not those who kill.

"I have long since come," says Mr. Wells, "to believe it necessary that all new social institutions should be born in confusion, and that at first they should present chiefly crude, ridiculous aspects."

History bears out this theory.

The Roman world laughed, when it was not angry, at the early Christians. They regarded the movement of Christianity as wholly ridiculous, when it was not seditious. Yet this religion has become the principal faith of modern civilization.

The Puritans were an absurd people with their bobbed hair and their cramped morality, their harsh literalism and their cruel customs. But they had the root of the matter in them, and were the ancestors of whatever conscience America possesses.

The Salvation Army at first was a picturesque joke, a noisy fanaticism; but it has become a very powerful and important arm of the church.

Prohibition just now is assailed by every wit and showered with arrows of irritable contempt; but at bottom it is a sober, rational movement which undoubtedly will be of incalculable value to the health of the race.

Russia at present is in turmoil, but out of it shall probably come the purest of future democracies.

The idea of international unity is stumbling and staggering and makes many an awkward gesture, but there can be no question that it will persist and dominate eventually in some form.

We expect a boy to be awkward, extravagant, and often absurd; why not the race? Both will come out all right when they grow up.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

COMMON SPEECH AND PEACE

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

Plans for an international telephone system in South America are maturing, the money to be raised in the United States and our American telephone companies to be taken as a model.

Despite the numerous telephones are not crossed by the wires. It is obvious that the cause of amity between the nations will be served when facilities of direct intercourse between capitals and statesmen are increased.

While some cloud of misunderstanding is still no bigger than a man's hand and resentment is still in the incipient stage, the Colombian may speak in person to the Venezuelan, the powers that be in Peru may address the Bolivian administration and diplomatic business that might otherwise call for a foreign commission of adjudication or a tedious and complicated correspondence may be adjusted by the informal give-and-take of conversation between those sincerely desirous of a settlement.

Had there been radio there could hardly have been the confusion of tongues at Babel. Whether English becomes the paramount language or not, the spread of the speech of mankind with mankind the world around is the first aid to friendly understanding. Every cable line is a binding force far more potent than documents; every broadcasting station

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

According to the Chicago News, the rum business is now the most extensive industry. Its conclusions seem to be based largely on the activity of bootleggers in its own city. It declares that every flat and every apartment house of Chicago has at least one resident who either buys or sells liquor. If this is true, it is a pretty bad showing for Chicago morals and intelligence. It does not have much bearing on the subject of prohibition outside such centers. Chicago is in large measure alien in population and sentiment.

Defiance of law indicates bad morals. Defiance that consists of buying such stuff as the bootlegger vends indicates lack of intelligence. The patron is likely to be poisoned. He risks death or permanent disability. And for the privilege of buying spurious liquor under counterfeit labels, he pays ten times the price formerly asked for the genuine product. In addition to this he becomes accessory to a business that in every respect is criminal.

If the Chicago figures are intended to convey the idea that the bootleg traffic is stronger than the government, they are misleading. The traffic goes hard in spots, it is true, but it is dying. This is due in part to the readiness with which it slays its patrons. The rising generation will decline to fill the gaps thus created.

Postoffice robbers convicted at Toledo have been sent to the Atlanta penitentiary for fifty years. Whether that institution allows time off for good behavior doesn't make much difference in this instance. The men might get a third off, and still realize that the robbery of post-offices is poor business.

Business is so good in this country that American manufacturers are said to be neglecting foreign orders.

There could not be a finer example of inability to see beyond the end of the nose.

In his fight against the theory of evolution Mr. Bryan stands at the level of the Rev. Jaspas, who declares that "the sun do move." Another of his intellectual companions is Voliva, who teaches followers that the globe is flat.

Regardless of the merits of the farmer bloc, it may be said that the rest of Ladd's statement bears the aspect of truth.

If there have not been blocs working in secret, exerting an influence that could not be overcome, there is no explanation for the times the senate has defied the wishes of the country.

It is evident that the people of southern California are not afraid to issue bonds for the promotion of the public good. This does not always mean for a proposition strictly utilitarian.

Every growing city needs a civic center. Of course a city could get along without such a center, but its growth would be retarded, and its expansion be not along harmonious lines. It would lose in apparent culture, and thus would lose in real culture also.

Therefore southern California cities will see that these centers shall be provided. Where the proposition has not actually been made it is heard as a tentative suggestion. In every place where it has been made it is receiving support.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

One of our most renowned pessimists—I had almost said our most renowned pessimist—dined with me not long ago. He has published several books and many magazine articles and oodles of excellent, sad, depressed stuff in the newspapers. After I listened to him I was in doubt whether to make an end of all or to wait, out of sheer, vulgar curiosity to see the painful finish. Then I ran across Uncle Joe Cannon.

"The country," I said gloomily, "is going to ruin."

Well, I had authority for it, didn't I? I had just been packed like a pipe with all sorts of slow-burning mixtures. Civilization was decaying. It was almost on its last leg. My pessimist had told me that we didn't have much civilization anyhow, we Americans, and that with Europe shot to pieces we had no chance to do anything but sink. Uncle Joe snorted.

"Hell," said he, "this is the best country in the world. And it is getting better. I've lived a long time, and the country has been improving each year."

I began to tot things up. Uncle Joe has been fifty years in congress. He has seen, heard, done many things. He watched the country develop from a mess of swamps and paper money and tobacco cuts—if one may accept the statement of authors current fifty years ago—into its present state. If we could look back fifty years, as Uncle Joe does, we might agree with him.

My pessimist's prophecy began to sound like the walls of a peevish child. Part of it, I suspect, was egotism—he likes to be known as the Prophet of Despair—and part of it anger because not all the world agrees with him when he consigns it to ruin. He has spent his life in squealing—Uncle Joe in doing. I like Uncle Joe's motto best:

"This is the best country in the world. And it is getting better."

OVERLAND WINS BIG ROCK LAND
AGAIN, CLASS I-E
YOSEMITE RUN IS MOTORING
FEATUREDistance of 360 Miles at 35.55 per Gallon; No
Water or Oil

Not satisfied with being the first car into Lake Tahoe in 1923, or capturing the honors of first car in the Grant's pass, the Overland won the 1923 Annual Los Angeles-Camp Curry, Yosemite, Economy Run in the I-E class, for cars under $800, f. o. b. factory. A distance of 360 miles over all kinds of roads, mud, snow and concrete, with grades ranging from six to 18 per cent, making an average gasoline mileage of 35.55 miles per gallon, and using no oil or water.

The Yosemite Economy run is recognized as the national economy run.

The Overland driven by Joe Bozani scored its third victory for the run, winning in its class in every run in which it was entered, proving its right to the title of the most economical car under $800, according to H. C. Kennedy, sales manager for Geo. T. Smith, local Overland and Willys-Knight dealer.

"One of the outstanding feats of mechanical perfection in an automobile goes to the Overland, as the car covered the entire 360 miles without using any oil or water," said Mr. Kennedy. "It is claimed by officials of the Yosemite that this is the first car ever to enter the valley with this record. Think of it! 360 miles, approximately 40 miles of first and second speed work without using any oil or water. The Overland (model 91) can be proud of this record."

"All cars in the run were entered by Los Angeles dealers and the finish of the run will be remembered by all. Starting at Los Angeles, the land of sunshine and flowers, the climb was made to an elevation of 6200 feet—a heavy snowstorm at Yosemite put the finishing touches to a most eventful run. The thermometer registered a temperature that caused much shivering among the drivers, and used cars were forgotten, although swapping was still in evidence—dealers were trying to trade B. V. D.'s for fur mittens and rubbers."

"The reason for Overland power and economy is in its construction. The Overland power plant is the standard-designed and completely Overland-built. The motor is a model of simple design and efficiency. It turns up 27 horsepower on brake test."

"It is a powerful, rugged motor that delivers more than the usual number of miles from a gallon of gasoline or a pint of oil."

"Motor, clutch and transmission are a unit. These vital parts are completely enclosed and are thus protected from mud and dirt. The transmission is of the selective sliding-gear type—three speeds forward and reverse. The clutch is of the disc type, easy to operate and remarkably efficient. The clutch runs in a bath of oil."

"The Overland comes to you complete—no extras to buy. Its refinement of design makes its instant appeal to the man who appreciates fine automotive engineering."

"The foot-service and the hand-emergency brake operate on the brake drums of large diameter and wide face. A hand turn-screw adjusts the outer brakes. The Overland has more braking area—actually and relatively—than any light car on the market. There is one square inch of braking surface to every 19 pounds of car weight."

"The brilliant, lasting finish is baked on the all-steel body, giving a protection of lustrous enamel that far outlasts the ordinary coat of paint."

"In driving an Overland the driver realizes the difference. Everything is marvelously simple. The steering is easy—easier than you have ever before experienced. The Triplex spring suspension cradles you over the inequalities of the road. The motor starts easily, the gears slip smoothly from first through second into high, so smoothly that your wife or daughter can handle the car as easily as yourself."

"The beauty of the Overland closed cars is one of permanence. The steel body and the luxurious upholstery and fittings conceal the handwork of master coachbuilders."

Geologists visit the Big Rock country to study the peculiar formations of the rocks, especially of the "Devil's Punch Bowl"; artists visit the country to record its beauties on canvas, botanists to study its myriad wild flowers, orchardists to see the bountiful pear orchards and fishermen to lure the speckled beauties from Big Rock creek.

And all these lovers of the Big Rock country must depend upon the sturdy motor car to take them to and from their favorite haunts.

For the Big Rock country lies far from the railroad or any other means of transportation except a motor car. A party from the Ralph B. Bliss Co., Jewett distributors for Glendale, 306 East Colorado, drove to the creek recently. They report that trout are plentiful and that the most beautiful part of Big Rock country lies between Shoemaker's ranch and Old Point Comfort.

The route followed by the Jewett enthusiasts may be traced as follows: out to San Fernando, thence along the state highway to Newhall and Saugus and through Mint Canyon to Palmdale. At Palmdale the pavement ends, and the motorist must turn his car toward the east over a good dirt road leading to the town of Little Rock.

Highway signs will then lead him, up into Big Rock canyon, and he will cross Big Rock creek a short distance from the schoolhouse near Valermo. About two miles farther he will reach Shoemaker's ranch, and from this point up to Old Point Comfort he will find excellent fishing, although the trout this year are rather small.

The Devil's Punch Bowl cannot be reached by motor car, but it is interesting from a scenic and geological standpoint, and is worth the stiff hike of about three-quarters of a mile from the road near Old Point Comfort. It is a formation of gigantic rocks, thrown upwards through the crust of the earth by some primitive upheaval.

THREE BEAUTIFUL SPOTS FOR THE TOURIST

Do you want to spend your week ends where brooks bubble and refreshing breezes fan through the sheltering branches of huge shade trees. You can take your choice, for three picturesque canyon trips are offered, all within a few miles of Glendale, and all penetrating the San Gabriel mountains north of Glendale, San Dimas and Claremont on the Foothill boulevard.

The first encountered by the new Pike's Peak motor Chandler scout car sent out by the Smith & Howe Co., 116 N. Maryland avenue, was Dalton canyon, leading north from Glendale. The creek forks soon after the eastern route heads up big Dalton.

The roads lead to trails, which must be hiked if much of the inside country is to be explored, but there are plenty of picnic places accessible to automobiles.

Next comes San Dimas, opening to the north above the town of San Dimas. The Los Angeles city playground is located just below where this canyon forks. The west fork is the most attractive to explore. San Dimas is popular, according to the rangers, who are kept busy on Sundays regulating traffic. Many cabins are springing up in this cool and enticing little natural rendezvous, and with paved boulevard connections, it makes an ideal summer camp for the family where dad can spend the week ends, and even make it daily if he wishes.

Proceeding farther east to Claremont and turning left on Mountain avenue, over San Antonio Heights, one goes directly into San Antonio canyon to Stoddard camp, from which a trail leads to Camp Baldy and Icehouse canyon. A week end spent exploring these three natural beauty spots brings the outing enthusiast plenty of refreshing recreation.

These trip suggestions are made by Smith & Howe, local Chandler dealers, 116 North Maryland avenue.

RECOVERY OF CARS
IN 1923 IS GREAT

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 26.—In completing records of stolen automobiles and recoveries, for the year 1922, an error in the first figures announced by the National Automobile Dealers' association, was discovered in the report credited to Indianapolis. The report listed only 77 cars as recovered by Indianapolis police in 1922. The actual recoveries by the Indianapolis police department in 1922 totaled 806, leaving only 77 cars unrecovered. The total recoveries for 1922 in the 28 index cities on which the first announcement was based, amounted to 27,240, the greatest number of recoveries for any year since the record has been kept. The percentage of unrecovered stolen cars, on the corrected figures is 22.91 percent instead of 24.98 percent indicated by the first compilation. The Indianapolis percentage of recoveries was 91.3 percent.

Incident to its studies of car thefts and the work of police departments in recoveries, and the effect of low new car prices, the National Automobile Dealers' association has been reviewing efforts to provide anti-theft measures by 1923 legislatures. Only three were influenced to pass measures through. One of these relates specifically to the theft of accessories and equipment and not to vehicles. In South Dakota, the certificate of title bill so weak as to be absurd and valueless. The automobile Trade association of South Dakota, after conferences of its executives with executives of the National Automobile Dealers' association, opposed and defeated the bill. It was believed best to have no statute on the subject rather than a weak and ineffectual one that would be so farcical as to arouse public disfavor and prove an obstacle to future passage of a law drawn on the lines of the Indiana and Maryland experience.

In North Dakota they passed the state's first real law in which an attempt is made to safeguard motor vehicles. This bill provides for the filing of bills of sale and other transfers of personal property in much the same manner as the filing and transferring of real estate. Provisions are made for punishment for violation, and the law also prescribes the effect on titles to goods, of such filing.

SHORTAGE IN CARS

C. L. Smith, Chevrolet dealer, reports that the shortage of cars comes earlier this year than ever before. He has only a few cars left on hand, but already some of the models have been sold out. The Chevrolet sport is in unusually popular demand at this time. Three were ordered this week, one of them to be painted maroon. These cars are equipped with all the latest conveniences, such as disc wheels, cord tires, spot light, slow stop signal, nickel radiator and guard, nickel bars on rear, door pads, running board mats, wind wings, double bar bumpers, sun visor, motor meter bumpers, sun visor, motor meter sport model is now on display at the show rooms on Orange and Colorado.

THE HILLS WITH THEIR MUSIC OF WHISPERING PINES AND PURRING
STREAMS CALL MOTORIST AWAYSan Gabriel Canyon Is the Trip Suggestion of the Press Auto Section This Week; Pack the "Old
Liz" and Take the Family to the Mountains

Not every motorist knows the joys that come with camping out—getting right down to nature. There is something about getting out in the hills, with their wonderful bigness, streams, air, that can be secured in no section other than the mountains. By "camping out" is not meant a visit of a week or two at some of the summer resorts which may be found in any of the hills in this section, for that is not really camping out. Real camping out means to load the blankets, the necessary provisions, cooking utensils in the machine and go up into some canyon and on this jaunt up into the hills that it seemed a good plan to tell the motorists about it. The route to take on the jaunt up into the San Gabriel canyon is as follows: Leave Glendale on Colorado street going east. Continue east to and through Eagle Rock and go into Pasadena, where continue straight ahead until Santa Anita avenue is reached, where turn left and proceed about two blocks. Turn right and follow the Foothill boulevard to and through Monrovia and Duarte to Azusa. Turn left at the main traveled street in Azusa and continue up the hill (north) to the end of the street where signs will direct the driver to the canyon.

This trip may be made in one day or will serve very nicely as a day and a half jaunt. If the motorist elects to spend a day and a half in the mountains thereby enjoying the night in the hills, it will be well to start not later than 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in order that everything may be prepared in camp before dark. As this entire route is thoroughly marked by signs erected by the Auto Club of Southern California the motorist will have absolutely no trouble in keeping to the desired course.

Although this canyon is located comparatively close to home the motorist should not overlook it, for it contains many features that are not obtained in many of the trips. Another thing—take the old fishing rod along. One hundred trout and trout were placed in the San Gabriel river this year, and if the motorist-angler has good luck, he may bring in enough to stink up the pan—who knows?

TIGHTENING A LOOSE BULB
There is often too great a clearance between the bulb sockets and the base of the bulb. This is often the cause of vibration of the bulb, which, in the case of a single wire system, prevents a positive ground and causes a flickering light. Sometimes, a drop of solder on the end of the bulb will eliminate the trouble, as the projections of the bulb base will be forced tighter into the socket slot. Or, if the slot openings are slightly pressed in, the socket is given a tighter grasp on the bulb base. If these methods fail, a brass wedge can be slipped between the socket wall and the bulb case.—Automobile Digest.

ARROWHEAD LAKE IS SCENIC GEM

Those who have not visited Arrowhead Woods during the past two years are due for an amazing sight for their recollections will picture a group of shanties set out on a "pin" jutting into the blue waters of Lake Arrowhead with surrounding none too neat or clean. Arrival was made over roads that were deep in dust, two years ago, and many a chuck hole shook all the pleasure out of motoring over those roads.

Now a transformation most complete will be found. Where the old store and boat house once stood is a big dance pavilion. Another big building stands near by with accommodations for the kodak fiend, the thirsty and the ones hungry for sandwich. Across the road is a garage of activity with carpenters and a group of buildings housing all sorts of shops, a cafeteria and a market that would be a credit to any city.

This is Arrowhead village and it is a village in every sense of the word. There is hardly a commodity that the recreation seeker could desire but will be found in one of its stores.

Across the lake is the clubhouse, used by the development company for the entertainment of its guests, and around the lake winds an excellent road with a million dollar picture on every turn.

On every turn new buildings are going up. A new inn will soon be under construction and opened this summer. The lodge is already the scene of activity with carpenters and masons. This new place will house many guests. In Burnt Mill canyon will be another camp in the very near future and Fleming's is being expanded.

The crowd that swarmed all over the place last summer will find more extensive accommodations this season and motorists will find the roads better, the Waterman grade in better shape, and a brand new road from the desert side for those who are timid about driving the switchbacks of Waterman canyon.

SEQUOIA PARK
ROAD IS OPEN

[By Associated Press]
VISALIA, Calif., May 24.—Although nine days ahead of official schedule the Giant Forest, Sequoia National park, automobile road was thrown open to motorists May 15, under orders of Superintendent John R. White. Conditions in the forest are ideal, Col. White reports, and a big year of tourist travel is anticipated. The concessionaires will not be in operation until May 24, the official opening date, but several automobile parties are already camping in the forest.

TOOL FOR CLEANING UPHOLSTERY

After a drive along hot, dusty roads, the depressions of the auto cushions as well as the folds of the back and sides, will be found packed with dust. A tool which can be made in a minute is made by cutting off most of the handle of an old shaving brush and, in the center of the cut just made, driving an ordinary bed-nail. This should be centered as near as possible. Place the end of the nail in the jaws of a hand drill, and with this dust out the depressions as fast as you come to them. Due to the high speed of the drill, the dust is quickly removed.—Automobile Digest.

THREE GOOD TRIPS
FOR SPRING
TOURISTS
TRAVEL TO TAHOE
THIS YEAR TO BE GREATEST

Three picturesque canyon trips are within a few miles of Los Angeles and each other, and all penetrating the San Gabriel Mountains north of Glendale, San Dimas and Claremont, on the Foothill boulevard, beckon to the outgoing motorists.

The first encountered by the Kissel sent out by the Nelson & Burr company, local dealers, 308 East Colorado, was Dalton Canyon, leading north from Glendale. The creek forks soon after entering the canyon and the western road leads up Little Dalton, while the eastern route heads up Big Dalton. The roads lead to trails which must be hiked if much of the inside country is to be explored.

Next comes San Dimas, opening to the north, above the town of San Dimas. The Los Angeles City playground is located just below where this canyon forks, and the west fork is the most attractive to explore.

San Dimas is popular, according to the rangers, who are kept busy on Sundays regulating traffic. Many cabins are springing up in this cool and enticing little natural rendezvous.

Proceeding farther east to Claremont, and turning left on Mountain avenue over San Antonio Heights, leads directly into San Antonio Canyon to Stoddard Camp, from which a trail leads to Camp Baldy and Icehouse Canyon.

TAHOE CITY, May 25.—Travel to Lake Tahoe during the 1923 season will be the greatest in history, according to C. T. Bliss, vice president and general manager for the Lake Tahoe Railway and Transportation Company, who is here arranging plans for the accommodation of the thousands who are expected to visit the lake this summer.

Applications for reservations are being received from all parts of the country, said Bliss, who stated that indications point to an unusually heavy travel to Lake Tahoe this summer as a result of the widespread newspaper advertising campaigns now being conducted throughout the country by the California Railway and Transportation Company, and the greatly reduced passenger rates to California summer resorts now in effect.

Prospects for good fishing at the lake this season are unusually good. The level of the lake is higher than in years.

Daily train service between Truckee and Tahoe City has just been put into effect by the Lake Tahoe Railway and Transportation Company, Bliss stated. The train leaves Truckee at 8:05 a. m. and arrives at Tahoe City in time to connect with the steamer for the trip around the bay making stops at practically all the resorts.

Many prominent Californians are building summer residences at the lake. George A. Pope of San Francisco is reported to have purchased the famous Wm. S. Tevis estate and John S. Drum, prominent San Francisco banker, is building a $75,000 mansion at Meigs Bay.

A number of new motor boats and power launches will be in use on Lake Tahoe this summer. George A. Pope and George Nowell of San Francisco and Norman DeVaux of Piedmont will be among the California sportsmen to enter speed boats in the motor boat races to be held on the lake July 4.

OREGON ROADS ARE PACKED WITH TOURISTS

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 26 (United Press).—The roads of Oregon are becoming alive with tourists, the camps in the various canyons are filling up. The first tourist goats have wandered from their camps and eaten the clothes on nearby washlines, scared children and had their names in the papers with the proper cuss words, a sure sign of summer and the tourist season.

Along with the tourist season always comes the marvel of just what pet families will take on their journeys, parrots, guinea pigs, cats, deer, and every known variety of dog, fit snugly in somewhere.

For Easier Riding.
A car will ride better over a rough road if the engine is constantly pulling it. With the car running slowly—in "high"—the rear wheels seem to cling to the road better and the wheels are not so free to be joggled around by the bumps.

The comfort and ease of riding of the good Maxwell have aroused great enthusiasm among owners. Its pronounced beauty, its reliability and its economy are other reasons for the remarkable inroads it is making in public regard.

"The body is not built for show only. It's constructed to look right and stay right, indefinitely."
"And a similar permanence to the finish of these models is assured by the fact that each body undergoes 19 hand operations before it leaves the paint department, ready to be mounted on the sturdy Overland chassis."
George T. Smith has on display one of these wonderful little automobiles and invites the public to come in and inspect it.

WYOMING TO LICENSE AUTOS

In Wyoming the Barksdale bill providing for registration of all motor vehicles, and also providing for state and municipal police inspection, is the first serious effort there to provide statutes aimed at discouraging the theft of motor cars. The law also provides for penalties to thieves.

Both of these measures have already become law. The legislatures of Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Missouri, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee failed to pass measures that were written with a view to discourage thievery and to safeguard the interests of the automobile owners. In Indiana and Minnesota there were efforts to alter existing statutes, but these failed in both instances.

In California, Connecticut, Illinois, Nebraska, New York, West Virginia and Wisconsin the legislatures are still in session and have anti-theft measures under consideration. In New York there are three bills in the hopper. There were three in the Pennsylvania legislature. The Ohio legislature had 88 bills touching on the automobile, only one of which was an anti-theft measure.

Lynn M. Shaw, assistant general manager of the National Automobile Dealers' association is preparing a detailed review of the action of legislatures in 43 states and the disposition of nearly 5000 automobile measures that were thrown into the hoppers of the law machines this year. The study will require some time, but when completed will be broadcast with the idea of giving the motor car owners as much information as possible, about the new laws in the various states.

Blue blood was the only thing Mrs. Newriche had not been able to buy, but she made up for the lack of it by scraping acquaintance with any titled people she came across.

At an afternoon party she met a friend of similar social ambitions. "Oh, Miss Turfhaunter," she exclaimed, "such good news! You'll die of envy!"

"Well, out with it," the friend sneered.

"Why, my dear," said Mrs. Newriche, "Amy has caught the flu from the dear duchess!"

DOCTORS AND NERVES

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

That medical treatment of functional nervous disorders still leaves much to be desired is a fact of common knowledge. The average general practitioner often experiences such difficulties in dealing with nervous patients that, though they constitute a large proportion of his clientele, he is perhaps over-willing to refer them to the nerve specialist.

And nerve specialists themselves are not always as successful as they might be in coping with nervousness. As is evinced by the way many patients drift from specialist to specialist, perhaps finally resorting in despair to some "irregular" healer, with the result not infrequently of a "miraculous" cure.

Partly this unfortunate situation is due to the complexities of nervousness. Still more, however, it is due to shortcomings in medical education, shortcomings which have the effect of leading physicians as a class to place undue reliance in drug therapy and to ignore or underestimate the part played by mental states in causing the insomnia, dyspepsias and more serious troubles of the functionally nervous.

Nor can it be expected that there will be a change for the better until in every medical school professorships are established for the express purpose of instructing medical students in the inter-relationships of mind and body as factors in the cause of disease, and of the importance of reckoning with these in the practice of medicine.

Research more and more surely is establishing that, to be on the safe side, there should be treatment of both mind and body when it is a question of functional nervous trouble. The fact that many patients respond to purely mental treatment, while many others do well under purely medicinal and hygienic measures, does not affect the desirability of taking both physical and psychological conditions into account when combating nervousness.

This for reasons recently well stated by Professor William McDougall of Harvard university, a most competent student of the problems nervousness raises. After mentioning as contributory physical causes, fatigue, endocrine gland disturbances, the toxins of indigestion, infectious diseases, etc., Professor McDougall goes on:

"It may be doubted whether these or any other physical influences would of themselves produce, in a man otherwise in good bodily and mental health and of good constitution, a condition which could properly be diagnosed as a neurosis.

"But any departure from bodily health may, by inducing anxiety in the mind of the patient, perhaps a secret, unexpressed, or even subconscious anxiety, favor the onset of neurosis.

"On the other hand, it may equally be doubted whether, in a man in perfect physical condition and of good constitution, any of the mental disturbances, conflicts and disharmonies which play so great a part in inducing neurosis could of themselves bring about this result if they did not in some degree, by deprivation of rest, disturbance of circulation, or some other bodily function, evoke the co-operation of bodily factors."

So that:
"The main thing in this connection is to realize the intimate and constant action and reaction between mind and body, and their reciprocal dependence for all healthy living."

In other words, in developed cases of nervousness physicians are confronted with what is known as a "vicious circle," the breaking of which may require much psychological insight as well as medical knowledge and skill.

To give them the latter has been the great objective of the instruction provided in medical schools. To give psychological insight should equally be a medical school objective, and must become such if nervous patients are to receive the balanced medico-psychological care on which their restoration to health so frequently depends.

SPEED WAGONS in the Business of Farming

Where the lighter truck stumbles and falters, and the larger vehicle stalls, the SPEED WAGON comes through.

WHY? Because it has the power, lightness and traction. Pneumatic tires, a minimum chassis weight, and more engine power than any vehicle in its class, bring it through the sand, the mud, and the ploughed field without hesitation.

Located miles away from a garage, the farmer cannot take chances with flimsy trucks. The SPEED WAGON is 50% oversized at all vital points.

TAKE DOWN THE OLD FISH POLE GREASE UP THE REEL; STREAMS AND LAKES ARE CALLING

Here Is Latest Information Regarding Fishing in the Waters of San Diego, Riverside, San 'Berdu,' Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara and Kern Counties

Here's a little information for the angler. Generally speaking, fishing in the various sections of Southern California is as good now as it has ever been at this time of the year, and in some sections the angling is above par.

Where to go and how to get there, what to take and how much it costs are told in a fishing bulletin that has just been compiled by the Auto Section of the Glendale Daily Press, in conjunction with the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California. With the hope that it may prove helpful, this information is being passed on to the readers of this section:

SAN DIEGO COUNTY

Black Bass Fishing
Morena Reservoir: About 52 miles east of San Diego; fishing permit, $1 per day. Boats 50 cents per hour; $1 half day; $2 all day. Camping permit 50 cents per machine; no charge for camping where fishing permit is secured. Thirty-two boats. Reservations should be made in advance; address or telephone Seth Swensen, Campo, California, phone Chula Vista 192-F-2.

Some of the best large mouth Black Bass fishing in the state is to be had in this lake. Best lures—Royal coachman or brown hackle flies; bucktail with spinner ahead; pork rind minnows, angle worms and crawfish, plugs and live minnows. There is no closed season on fishing in this lake.

Sweetwater Reservoir: 11 miles east of San Diego. Fishing permit 50 cents per day. Boats for fishing $1 per day; forty-seven boats. Reservations should be made in advance. Address Henry Derford, National City, telephone National 10-J-2. No charge for camping privilege.

Very good bass fishing is to be had here and fine catches are made throughout the season. Best lures: Flies, bucktails, plugs, pork rind, minnows, angle worms, live minnows and crawfish. La Mesa or Murray Reservoir: 10 miles northeast of San Diego. Fishing permit $1 per day. Boats 35 cents per hour; $1 half day or $1.50 all day. Camping privilege, no charge.

Thirteen boats. For reservations address W. M. Ritz, Damkeeper, La Mesa, Calif., telephone La Mesa 39-1. Good bass fishing may be had here and some trout. Lures same as at Sweetwater.

Trout Fishing
Cuyamaca Lake, Lower Otay Reservoir and Barrett Reservoir: Are all stocked with rainbow trout and some fine two and three pounders have been taken from these waters each season. The fishing is best early in the season as when the water is lowered in the summer the grass hinders trolling or fly casting.

Camping privileges at Cuyamaca are 50 cents for first day and 25 cents per day thereafter. Eighteen boats at Cuyamaca, 35 cents per hour, $1 half day, $1.50 per day. Fishing permit 50 cents per day. For reservations address J. F. Peterson, Damkeeper, Julian, phone La Mesa 802-F-21.

No charge for camping at Barrett or Lower Otay Reservoirs.

Ocean Fishing

Imperial Beach: Spotfin croakers, yellowfin and corbina are biting. This beach is about 13 miles south of San Diego.

Ocean Beach: Corbina, croakers, smelt biting.

Mussel Rock: Bass and corbina biting.

Cardiff: Good croaker, corbina and surf perch had past week.

Oceanside: Good mackerel, smelt, yellowfin fishing from wharf and good surf fishing past week.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY

The fishing in this county is confined to the San Jacinto mountains, near Idyllwild. Good camp sites may be found on or near these streams. Hotel and cottage accommodations may be had at Idyllwild or Keene Camp.

Lake Hemet: Is generally good in the early part of the season. A charge of $5 is made to fish in this lake. Most of the fishing is done with salmon eggs for bait and trout up to five pounds have been caught here. A good camp site may be had at Hemet Lake. All of the above named streams have been stocked by the Fish and Game commission and should furnish plenty of five and six inch trout the first of the season.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY
Big Bear and Arrowhead Lakes:

Both furnish the same kind of fishing—trolling with spinners and still fishing with salmon eggs. The fishing in these waters is always best early in the season and late in the fall. The best fishing is to be had in these lakes from boats, which should be engaged in advance in order to make sure of getting one.

Best lures to use here as follows: Big Bear Lake spinners, tandem spinners baited with angle worms, salmon eggs, live minnows. Camp grounds will be found at both lakes, also hotel and cottage accommodations.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY

Trout fishing in Los Angeles county is confined to the San Gabriel river and its branches, San Antonio creek and Big Rock creek. These are all small mountain streams and conditions about the same in all of them. The streams easily reached by automobile are generally fished out the first month after the season opens, but the ones that are hard to reach afford good fishing throughout the entire season.

Good camp sites may be found along any of these streams. Be sure and have a fire permit before building a fire as all of them are in the national forest.

Resorts where meals, beds and horses may be had are located on these streams. It is only possible to drive an auto up the San Gabriel to Berry Flats Camp ground. From here horses or horse stage may be had to take you several miles farther up.

Ocean fishing is improving all along the Los Angeles county coast. At Long Beach, spotfin, yellowfin are biting from the surf. Herring and mackerel are being caught from the pier.

Barracuda are just beginning to run and the trolling boats are having good luck.

Fishing excursion boats are bringing in Rock Cod, Whitefish and large mackerel.

From the large anchored a couple of miles off Long Beach, Jack smelt, Spanish and Green-back mackerel are being caught.

Huntington Beach: Surf fishing has been good the past week. Croakers, yellowfin and corbina are beginning to run.

Pier fishing is improving and herring, halibut, croakers, yellowfin and mackerel are being caught.

At Balboa large yellowfin are being caught from the pier and spotfin croakers in the bay. Barracuda are starting to run off shore.

Redondo Beach: Mackerel are being caught from the pier and also from trolling boats.

TIME PAYMENT WAR DEBT

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 26.—Adjustment of the Czechoslovakian war debt to the United States probably will be along the same lines as those proposed for payment of the British loan, according to United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah who is home for the summer. A Czechoslovakian mission is expected to visit the United States soon to negotiate settlement terms, he said.

REAR AXLE RIVALS PIKE'S PEAK MOTOR

The Pike's Peak motor, which has become famous for performance since it was introduced by the Chandler last January has a worthy rival for fame in the Chandler rear axle.

The engine has had country-wide publicity from the beginning of the year. Motorists gauged its ability, so that it seemed to leap into fame overnight.

Yet but little has been said about the unit that transfers the tremendous flow of power from the engine into driving effort at the rear wheels—the unit that makes the car go.

Actually, the rear axle is as deserving of fame as is the engine. The Pike's Peak power plant would be valueless without a driving unit of equal sturdiness.

Picture what happens in the rear axle when the Chandler pushes its way up a grade so steep that few others can make the climb.

The Pike's Peak motor settles down to its task, and supplies a flood of power. The car is in direct drive—so that all the power is transmitted directly to the rear axle. Inside the rear axle housing the drive pinion transfers the power to the ring gear. The gear reduction is 4.45 to 1. The speed of the drive shaft is thus transformed into a much lower speed for the rear axle drive shafts, while the strain on the latter is correspondingly increased. The effort of the motor is multiplied by 4.45!

To carry this load is a terrific task on the rear axle gears, pinions, bearings and axle shafts. This alone is a big thing to ask of the unit.

Yet the axle has other work. It must withstand terrific breaking strains on precipitous descents. It must stand up under twisting and jolting suffered on rough roads. It must take tremendous side swerves around sharp curves.

It is unfortunate—must stand abuses, for there drivers who bump over rough roads and swing the rear wheels against curbs.

One would not wonder at instances of failure under these conditions.

Yet, here is the noteworthy fact: In one entire year's production, the rear axle built by Chandler for the Chandler was 100 per cent perfect. Out of the entire output of 1922, records show there was not one case of rear axle failure.

And the same rear axle is used in the new Chandler with the Pike's Peak motor. This unit of the previous Chandler, with its perfect record, was retained as a worthy companion of the Pike's Peak motor, but only after it had undergone even more severe tests.

It was tried out in every test with the new engine throughout the

LINCOLN MAKES NEW SPEED RECORD

In a series of three tests for speed and quick getaway conducted by the Detroit department of police on Oakland boulevard at Dearborn, Mich., May 17, first place among the field of ten competitors was awarded to the Lincoln car.

The tests were made in an effort of the police department to secure a "flying squadron" of motor cars to enlist in the campaign against robberies and other crimes of the road.

Quick starting from a dead stop, rapid acceleration over long and short distances, and the ease with which the cars could be handled in any emergency demanding immediate ability to get going at race track speed were covered in quarter mile, half mile, and two mile tests, two of which were made from standing starts.

A large gathering of city officials, engineers and representatives from representative automobile plants and many spectators were present. Official clocking of the speed was made by stop watches held by the official referee and by judges in the cars, and cars were also timed and speedometer readings checked by members of the Detroit motorcycle squad.

The tests called for stock touring cars carrying six passengers each. In the two mile standing start, quick acceleration test, the Lincoln finished first, covering the distance in one minute, 49 and two-fifths seconds, attaining a speed of 80 miles per hour. The next nearest competitor covered the distance in one minute, 57 and two-fifths seconds. The slowest time recorded was two minutes, 23 seconds, finishing at a speed of 62 miles per hour.

In the half-mile test, the Lincoln, again taking first honors, covered the distance in 38 and two-fifths seconds, and finished at a speed of 73 miles an hour miles an hour. The nearest competitor covered the distance in 39 and one-fifth seconds.

The quarter-mile test was made from a running start of five miles an hour in intermediate gear. In this test the winner covered the distance in 26 and three-fifths seconds, while the Lincoln tied for second place with a time of 26 and four-fifths seconds. The slowest time in this test was 34 and two-fifths seconds.

trying period through which the Pike's Peak motor had to pass before it was approved.

The rear axle stood up to the standards of the Pike's Peak motor, and again and again made the ascent of Pike's Peak, the highest motor climb in the world, with never a mark against it.

CREAK IN REAR WHEEL

If a creak is noticed in a rear wheel when the clutch is engaged, it may be due to a loose wheel; provided that the rear axle is of the semi-floating or three-quarters floating type, in which the wheel is not rigidly attached to the axle. In this type, the wheel fits on the end of a tapered shaft and is locked tightly by a large cottered nut. If the nut is not drawn up fully and the wheel is a trifle loose, the axle will turn slightly when power is applied and give rise to an annoying creak. Though the wheel may seem tight upon inspection, an attempt to further tighten the nut may prove the contrary.—Automobile Digest.

THIS 'OLDS' OWNER MAKES GOOD RECORD

"Sixteen months ago I bought an Oldsmobile touring from the Olds Agency in Glendale," said George Anderson, real estate dealer of 117 South Brand boulevard. "I had heard good reports about the Olds, but as I do a lot of hard driving I was not sure that this car would do the work I demanded in a car. In one year's time, after 24,000 miles of hard driving, the Olds had cost me only $6.00 for mechanical upkeep and apparently was in as good shape as when it was purchased. "Heretofore I had been obliged to buy a new car every year, but have decided to continue using the Olds. I put on a new set of tires and up to date have gone 32,000 miles and have spent for repairs all told, $3.00. I averaged over 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline and use practically no oil."

There are a lot of Oldsmobile owners in Glendale that are just as satisfied with their machines as is Mr. Anderson, according to C. H. Hunter, Olds dealer in Glendale, whose place of business is on West Broadway.

Into Yosemite in HIGH GEAR

Never, in all the history of Yosemite, had it been done before! They said it couldn't be done. Yet the power and stamina of the Kissel has proved it possible.

Officially sealed in high gear by Marshall Huffman and Judge Bone of Merced, a standard Kissel 55 Phaeton driven by Carl Borgen of San Francisco, with Charles H. Holdson of Glendale as pilot and observer, the week before the Camp Curry Economy Run, made the entire climb from Merced via Mormon Bar, Elliott Ranch, Cedar Brook Inn, Miami Lodge, Wawona—to an elevation of 6390 feet at Chinquapin—and on into the Yosemite Valley. In spite of hairpin curves and long, gruelling 10% to 18% grades, the Kissel won through.

Arriving in the valley the seal was officially inspected and broken by Superintendent Lewis of the Yosemite National Park. That the Kissel was equipped with standard gearing is attested to by the proprietor of the Gateway Garage of Merced.

L. A. TO FRISCO RECORD BY OAKLAND

With gears sealed in high and the ignition switch sealed as well, a stock Oakland touring car averaged twenty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline in a non-motor stop economy run from Los Angeles to San Francisco reeling off 469 miles in 18 hours and 18 minutes with one car stop for a tire change.

The purpose of this test was to demonstrate the bonafide economy of the Oakland under as near owner driving conditions as it is possible to obtain. The entire run was made under the personal supervision of George F. Stephenson, technical representative of the A. A. A., and the car was accompanied by Tony Bobritsky acting as official observer.

"The Oakland walked away with the class and sweepstakes cups in the recent Yosemite economy run, but we do not feel that the wonderful fuel economy marks attained in that official event served any purpose other than a comparison of the cars entered in the run. An owner could not go out and duplicate such mileage on his summer touring," said the manager of the Wray Fredman Auto Co., local Oakland dealers, "so we decided that we would stage another event that would give the owner or prospect the figures on fuel consumption that would mean something to him.

"Twenty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline on a 469-mile trip that takes the car over three mountain passes is remarkable mileage. The gears were sealed in high and the motor was not stopped in all the 18 hours of pulling. This eliminated all trick driving and coasting. It was as near a bonafide owner test as we knew how to make it.

"The car consumed no lubricating oil whatsoever and only one-quarter of one pint of water was used. The former proves again that the Oakland 15-mile guarantee against oil pumping means the elimination of all oil troubles and the low water consumption shows the good cooling qualities of the car of the gasoline tanks as well as the measuring of the oil in the crankcase. The radiator was fitted and then sealed by means of the Fletcher motometer cap lock which eliminated every possibility of anyone tampering with the water in the radiator as the keys to the lock were put in the official observer's hands. The gears were then sealed in high and the car went on its way.

"We planned to set a non-car stop run as well, but fate intervened and a stray nail in the road blasted any hopes we had on this score and the car was brought to a stop while a tire was changed. The motor was kept running during all the precious minutes that were used up in the delay.

FILM ALASKAN RAIL ROMANCE

[By Associated Press]
ANCHORAGE, Alaska, May 26.
—A film location that will become history in connection with the construction of the Alaska railroad was made recently by an Alaskan motion picture corporation when, with several hundred seasoned Alaskans, including many who had blazed the first trail over the Spencer divide at the head of Turnagain Arm and picked their way over the treacherous crevasses of the Spencer glacier, re-enacting the various roles.

Aside from its value as a sequence in a romance of the north, the film will give to the outside world some idea of the herculean task confronting the engineers who conquered the obstacle and blasted the roadbed from the living rock.

In order to show the most minute detail of actual life on the trail when strong men battle against soul-trying odds to shove the lines of communication farther and farther into the wilderness, many seasoned Alaskans of the days of 1897 have volunteered to assist the cameramen in their work.

As yet the monetary element has not entered into the labors of these pioneers, a sort of home pride prompting them to contribute to correct historical detail. The value of this service to motion picture makers is beyond computation in point of correct props, such as costumes, dog teams, pack animals, bivouacs in the snow and every essential calculated to give to the world a correct reproduction of the historical scenes attendant upon the conquest of Alaska.

Through the igloos of Alaskan pioneers, the motion picture men have been able to bring to their aid correct settings and reproductions of the wild scenes of gambling house and dance hall, things considered essential in the days when there was neither "law of God or man north of 63."

Now staid and departmental grizzled veterans of the gold stampede days are found ready to step forward and take charge of the various scenes and direct them just as they were enacted in the Dawson days. The only fly in the ointment is the absence of something warm in the blood to assist in the spirit of the occasion.

In sponsoring the reproduction of the hectic scenes the pioneers have in view the presenting of contrasts between the Alaska of those days and the present, when the conventions are more strict than in most older communities.

TWO NEW JEWETT DRIVERS IN GLENDALE

There are two more proud owners of Jewett automobiles in Glendale—two more Glendale residents who are experiencing the wonderful driving and riding qualities of this unsurpassable machine. They are Fred R. Sinclair, Jr., 245 Sinclair avenue, who is burning up the road in a Jewett sport car and E. G. Warren, 300 1/2 South Brand boulevard, one of the most wide-awake real estate operators in this section. "E. G." also has a sport, and he's doing some sporting in that machine, too.

"The people are gradually getting the Jewett angle," said Ralph B. Bliss, 306 East Colorado street, distributor for the Jewett and Paige automobiles in Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock.

"Prospective automobile buyers, these days, do not buy a car on someone else's say so. They are doing a little thinking on their own account. That's why the Jewett and Paige automobiles are coming more and more into popularity, notwithstanding the fact that since their arrival, they have been among the 'best sellers'.

"More and more, these strongly-sold."

'RADIO' GARDNER IS NOW ON MARKET

Because of the large demand for the Radio Special Sport model Phaeton and Roadster, the Gardner Motor Co., of St. Louis, has announced that these cars are now available in a rich "Lake," a deep tone of red, as well as in the popular limousine blue color combination.

The "Lake" finished cars have Tuarc steel wheels to match, bright black genuine leather upholstery, and a black top. Back head and cowl lamps are used. In all other respects the cars are equipped like the Blue model.

The Limousine Blue "Radio Special" has a tan top and is upholstered in genuine leather of a color that makes a striking contrast with the body painting and other special equipment of this model. Radiator, cowl lamps, head lamps, bumper, front fender, mirror, tie rods, and other fittings are attractively nickel-plated. Aluminum step plates are on the running board and aluminum trunk rails at the rear of the body. Tuarc steel wheels are standard, as is the spare anti-skid cord tire with heavy tourist tube and tire cover. Moto-meter, with bar radiator cap, 32x4 cord tires, eighteen inch steering wheel with aluminum spider and nonslip rim, heavy beaded crown fenders and aluminum body moulding, are other items of equipment which add to owner comfort and embrace the "sporty" appearance of the car. Like other Gardner Fours these models are powered by the Gardner five-bearing crankshaft motor, and are guaranteed in writing for one year.

The Gardner is handled in Glendaly, 1004-6 South Brand boulevard. gives a very poor account of you," said the woman to a small girl just home from a visit. ## The Radio Special —a New Gardner Sport Model

In but few automobiles built today has outstanding mechanical excellence been so well combined with true distinctiveness of appearance and equipment as in the new Gardner Four "Radio Special."

The "Radio Special" is finished in the new Gardner Limousine Blue, with black crown fenders and blue Tuarc steel wheels, striped in gold.

The engine that drives the "Radio Special" is the same, notably improved 43-horsepower motor found in all the latest Gardner Fours—the only four-cylinder motor with a five-bearing crankshaft, and one that also embodies a considerable number of other important improvements.

Included in the "Radio Special", too, are all the other chassis and body features that go to make up perfectly balanced value in the Gardner Four—among them a more efficient braking system, with larger braking area; a clutch with 50 per cent lighter action; the heavier frame, with five cross-members; lower, deeper seats, set at an easier angle.

The first showing of the Gardner "Radio Special" is now being made. Let us demonstrate this "Guaranteed Car"; guaranteed in writing for one year.

THREE NEW ROADS TO ARIZONA ARE PLANNED

California and Arizona are so closely associated in a commercial way that efforts have been made for the past several years to secure more adequate road connections between the interior and the coast. At present, there are three routes that carry heavy travel throughout the year, but not one of the three is paved throughout its length.

During the past year, Charles H. Bigelow has made frequent trips between Los Angeles and various Arizona cities. Bigelow is an experienced road engineer and has made a thorough study of the advantages and disadvantages of each of the three routes, as well as numerous substitute routes and cut-offs proposed from time to time as alternatives to avoid certain faults found in existing routes.

The most direct route to Phoenix, the Arizona capital, lies by way of the Coachella valley, Mecca, Blythe, Ehrenburg and Phoenix. Excellent pavement now reaches practically all the way through from Los Angeles to Mecca. From Mecca to Blythe the route lies across arid desert with stretches of soft sand interspersed with dry washes and occasional hard rock spots strewn with sharp rocks that play havoc with tires.

From Blythe to the Colorado river at Ehrenburg the route is occasionally impassable in the spring due to flooding from the Colorado overflow. At Ehrenburg the motorist crosses the Colorado by ferry. A short stretch of highway out of Phoenix is paved, but much of it lies over desert wastes.

The route by way of Victorville, Barstow, Needles, Topoc, Ashfork and Prescott to Phoenix is highly favored by the people of northern Arizona. It is much longer by this route to Phoenix, but is by far the best route for all northern Arizona cities and for motorists en route to the Grand Canyon and to Kansas City and the east except in mid-winter when snow may block portions of the way between Ashfork and Flagstaff.

This trouble, of course, would be practically eliminated with the paving of the route through the points of high elevation, this road reaching altitudes of over 7,000 feet above sea level. Pavement extends only from Los Angeles to Victorville on this route, although Arizona has surfaced much of its part of the route with an excellent decomposed granite which makes a highway almost as smooth as concrete and which requires but a small amount for upkeep.

The southern route, following the central one as far as Indio, continues on by way of the Ocean to Ocean highway, down past the western shores of the Salton Sea to the Imperial Valley and to El Centro and Holtville. From Holtville the motorist is compelled to pass through a stretch of torrid sand and over plank road that becomes even dangerous in mid-summer, but is fairly easy to negotiate in fall, winter or in spring. The shifting sands make it difficult to keep open in summer and from the end of the pavement a few miles out of Holtville almost to the Colorado crossing at Yuma the motorist must use care to keep on the planks or in the wheel tracks.

This latter route is by far the best for traffic from San Diego into Southern Arizona and is strongly favored by business men of both the Imperial Valley cities and those of San Diego. Except for the short stretch from Holtville to the river and a portion of the route from Yuma north in Arizona it is pavement all the way, and the surfaced roads of Southern Arizona are most excellent.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

Shows How to Adjust and Tune up
Motor for the Season's Running.

By E. H. SCOTT

This article gives practical, step-by-step instructions to the motorist who wants to reduce his repair bill, get more power from his motor, and eliminate trouble during the coming touring season.

The Valves

The Valves on the average engine require attention after from 5,000 to 8,000 miles running. When the engine is warm, test the valves as follows: First turn the spark plug, then insert the starting handle and crank the engine slowly by hand, with the Ignition Switch off, and the throttle wide open. Test each cylinder in this way in turn. When you pull up on the hand crank, note the resistance in each cylinder. If there is a lack of resistance in one or more cylinders, it is an indication that the valves require grinding in.

This is not absolutely certain, however, for compression depends not only on the condition of the valves, but also on the condition of the piston rings and cylinder walls. If the compression is "very weak" in a cylinder, and you notice that the spark plug is covered with an oily gummy deposit, and you have to take it out and clean it frequently, it is an indication that the piston rings are leaking as well as the valves.

When the engine has a detachable cylinder head, drain the radiator and remove the top water connection. Next remove all spark plugs and if necessary attach a tag to the end of each spark plug wire with the number of the cylinder it leads to written on it, then remove the cylinder head by unscrewing the bolts that secure it to the motor. Now remove the plates in front of the valves, then raise the valve spring and pull out the pin or washer under the spring retainer washer, but leave each valve in place until you are ready to take it out and grind it in. In some overhead valve engines, the valves are held in a cage, and in that case loosen the locking nut and take out the valve with the cage attached. Some engines do not have a detachable head, and the valves can be taken out by removing the valve cap over the valves.

To grind in a valve, place a piece of spring under the head of the valve of sufficient strength to hold it away from the seat when it is not under pressure. Now smear the face of the valve with a little grinding compound (obtainable at any auto accessory store) then with a brace and bit or a screw driver, rotate the valve to and fro, bearing firmly but not heavily, and being careful not to make more than one-third to one-half turn before reversing direction, otherwise you will cut a groove in the face of the valve. When all pits and black spots have been removed, and the face presents a fine frosty, semi-finished appearance, carefully clean the face of the valve and the valve seat with a little gasoline. Be very careful you do not let any of the grinding compound get down the valve guides or into the cylinder when you are working on the valves. Now test to see if the valve is ground in properly. Put marks with a pencil all around the face of the valve about 1/4 inch apart, then replace it in the cylinder and rotate a couple of times. If the valve is ground in properly, each pencil mark will be wiped away.

When all valves have been ground in and all trace of grinding compound removed by washing with gasoline, replace the valve springs and pins in place. Before replacing the cylinder head, thoroughly clean the face of the cylinder block and the head with gasoline. Always use a new cylinder head gasket, as the old one is sure to have been damaged when you took it off, although it may LOOK all right. After replacing the head, tighten all bolts finger tight, then give the bolts in the center one turn, next give the bolts at the corners a turn, then work to and fro giving each bolt a turn at a time, until you have them all tightened down equally.

After the valves have been ground in and replaced in cylinders, check the clearance. If there is insufficient clearance, that is there is NO space between the valve stem and the tappet or rocker arm, the valve will not seat properly, and the engine will have no power and will probably overheat. If the clearance is TOO GREAT, then the engine will be very noisy as well as have no pep. After grinding in the valves, the clearance must be left a trifle more than the correct clearance, to allow for the valve bedding down, final adjustment being made after the engine has run about 100 miles. The average clearance is .004 inch or about the thickness of a piece of book paper. The clearance varies on different engines, so find out from the instruction book you got with your car what the EXACT clearance should be, and keep the valves to that clearance.

To adjust the clearance, first take off the Distributor head, and turn the engine over until the Contact Breaker points are JUST BEGINNING to open, and the Distributor Arm is pointing directly opposite the point or segment attached to the wire leading to the cylinder in which you wish to adjust the valves. Use two spanners as shown, holding the adjusting screw with one, and the locking nut with the other, then screw up or down. When adjusting overhead valves, be VERY CAREFUL you do not adjust TOO CLOSELY, or the valve will not close properly when the engine is warmed up. Make sure also, if the valve is held in a cage, that it is WELL TIGHTENED DOWN, and is not allowing air to leak through. ALWAYS TEST THE CLEARANCE AFTER YOU COMPLETE THE ADJUSTMENT.

REGISTRATION OF AUTOS UP TO MILLION

More Cars "Sign Up" in California Than Ever Before

California has passed the million mark in auto registration!

With the issuance yesterday of state license plate number 1,000,000 to Don Doig, manager of the touring bureau of the Auto Club of Southern California, California was the first state to issue a plate reaching this figure.

California has the honor of leading all states in America with the number of motor vehicles owned at this time, and leads any country of the world in the number of motor vehicles registered.

A telegram received yesterday by the Auto club touring bureau from New York confirms the fact that New York, which hitherto has led America in the number of motor cars registered, did not issue a 1,000,000 license in 1922 and has not yet issued one for 1923. When H. J. Bernard, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Motor Vehicle department yesterday presented Mr. Doig with the epoch-making license number he declared that this will be the only plate probably to be issued by California bearing five ciphers and a one, as next year it is planned to use symbols in place of the figure.

The issuance of the 1,000,000 license came as a surprise to state authorities as well as to officials of the Auto club, as it was not believed that California was yet ready to take the lead in the world

BUTTS & PLUME—AUTO-MUST MAGNET

A handy tool for fishing bolts, nuts and small parts from the crank case, transmission or axle housing can be made from an old Ford coil unit and a few feet of duplex cable. Remove the box and compound surrounding the coil and remove the coil from the iron, being careful of the copper winding around the core as this is all that is needed. Cut the two leads about one inch from the end and solder these to a duplex cable. Separate the other end of the cable for attaching to a storage battery or dry cells, using clips for quick battery connections. Now tape the magnet to the cable and the tool is complete.—Automobile Digest.

RENO RACING OPENS

RENO, Nevada, May 25. (United Press).—Attention of sport fans is centered on this city as more and more horses, trainers and race track enthusiasts arrive for the opening of the June 9 to July 7 season under the auspices of the Silver State Jockey Club.

There are more than 400 horses here now, taxing stable space to capacity. General Manager William P. Kyne says horse owners all over the country are asking for the first time in the history of the Reno track.

market of automobiles. A rush order was hurried to the Los Angeles manufacturing plant, where the license plates are made and special machinery was at once installed for cutting plates of one million and over.

The honor of carrying the "1,000,000" was conferred upon the Automobile club by the State Motor Vehicle department as a result of the service rendered motorists of California by the Southern California organization in handling the distribution of license plates during the rush period just passed. Governor Richardson carried license plate number one.

"CAD" SALES ARE GREATEST IN HISTORY

Shipments of cars from the factory of the Cadillac Motor Car company during April were more than 25 per cent greater than the best previous month the company has experienced. Deliveries of cars to owners throughout the country also eclipsed all previous monthly records, according to a statement by Lynn McNaughton, vice-president and general sales manager.

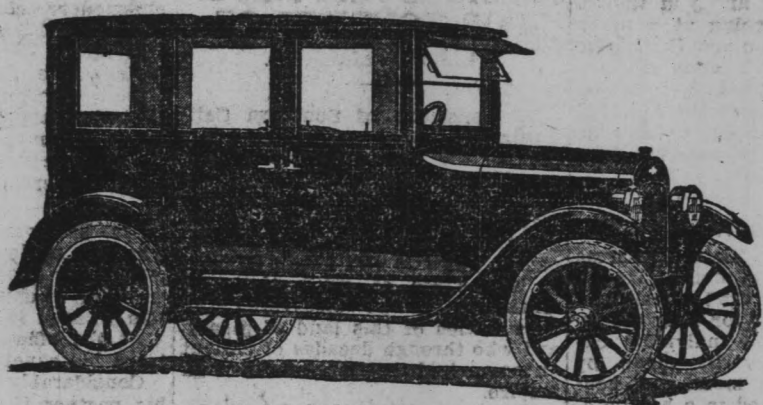

"It was only on account of recent further increases in production that we were able to fill orders of distributors and dealers," states Mr. McNaughton. "Our shipping department has been taxed as never before, and overtime work has been a necessity in getting out the big daily trainloads that ran up the new high record of shipments."

"A continuance of maximum production and shipments during the present month is expected, as the high April records were made in spite of the fact that in many sections of the country roads were still impassable."

The best remedy for scratched furniture is a mixture of bees-wax and turpentine, the former melted in the turpentine until it is as thick as syrup. ## MAXWELL OWNER IS MUSICIAN OF SKILL

Little Miss Woodbury, who is only 10 years old, plays the saxophone with unusual skill and expression and is the only juvenile of her age who plays a bass saxophone, an instrument which is larger than she is, and under Miss Woodbury's manipulation sends out deep bass notes of such volume that at times it sounds like the distant roll of thunder and she can also produce music on the instrument that stands as a challenge to the most celebrated saxophone artists. She has built up for herself a national reputation.

"I selected the new Maxwell sedan," said Little Miss Woodbury, "first, because everyone I asked about the new Maxwell had a good word to say for it and because every Maxwell owner in Glendale is a booster. Then I rode in the car and found it so easy riding and such a big comfortable rear seat that I can lay right down in it and go to sleep when I am being driven home from one of my evening theatre engagements. It is such a pretty car that everybody likes it and my father says it is the best car he has ever driven, and he has owned a great many cars."

Miss Woodbury purchased her Maxwell sedan from the Glendale Motor Car company of 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chalmers dealers.

ALL-AMERICAN MEAL GROWING

SACRAMENTO, May 26.—Food commodities from all part of the United States are pouring into Sacramento for the "All-American Meal," a movement sponsored by the local chamber of commerce to popularize American food products.

The local chamber of commerce has announced that all the material received will be assembled into a display and a dinner will be given June 7 at which the various products will be served.

PEANUTS COST $150,000,000
LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Nine million pounds of peanuts are eaten in Los Angeles every year, according to E. M. De Pender, sales manager of a Virginia peanut growers' association. The American nation's annual bill for this form of food is, he says, $150,000,000.

"My husband is simply a manufacturer of waste-paper baskets," said a guest at dinner, "and it is a very prosy occupation."
"Yes," asserted an unappreciated hard seated next to the speaker, "but then a great deal of good poetry goes into waste-paper baskets after all."

NEW FORD BUYING PASSING CAR MUST PLAN AIDS PURCHASER GET FREE ROAD

A weekly purchase payment for Ford cars increases the amount of credit available to purchasers by reaching down to the family savings in the home and at the bank. It does not secure delivery of a Ford car upon payment of a minimum of $5 down and $5 or more weekly, as seems to be supposed.

Changing status of the automobile is indicated in the way the motor is passing from the luxury class into that of necessities. With a large part of the rural public, "Own your own automobile" ranks with "Own your own home" in a family budget policy.

In days of high wages, savings banks deposits show some but not a corresponding increase. Thrift is as little universal as it was. As wages and salaries are received in growing amounts, more ways are found for spending them. Although automobile manufacturers generally have directed their efforts toward diverting these spendings toward purchases of their product, Ford seems to have devised a practical plan for this purpose. It appeals to people whose only reason for not owning a car was because the first payment.

A broad application of the thrift movement to car purchase will be strongly supported by the banks because it tends to swell their savings accounts. The Ford plan rather ingeniously links the savings idea to the Ford car and virtually ties the prospective purchaser to the purchase as soon as he begins to save for the first payment. The position of the dealer and the Ford Company, aside from any increased sales resulting, will be strengthened because co-operation of local banks will be sought in determining the credit risks of prospective purchasers.

In effect the family which takes advantage of the plan is merely starting a savings account pledged to the purchase of an automobile. Installment purchase upon the whole has not stimulated extravagance, and has undoubtedly made thrift attractive with an object for saving.

ATHLETES END COLLEGE FAME
[By Associated Press]
SANTA CLARA, Calif., May 25.—The University of Santa Clara will lose five former athletic captains by means of graduation on commencement day, May 30, it has been announced here. The quintet of star performers and ex-players who are closing their college careers is composed of Porter T. Kerckhoff, John A. Low, basketball, and George L. Haneberg and Joseph R. Fitzpatrick, baseball.

Stubborn auto drivers who think they are standing on their legal rights, when as a matter of fact they have no rights, are going to get into trouble this summer in traveling mountain highways if they don't watch out, warns the Auto Club of Southern California. A number of letters have been received by the Southern California club from irate auto owners who claim that many motorists are not aware of a clause in the state Motor Vehicle Act, to wit: Section 26 (D), which reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the driver, rider or operator of a vehicle about to be overtaken and passed to give way to the right in favor of the overtaking vehicle, on suitable and audible signal being given by or on behalf of the operator, driver or other person in charge and control of such overtaking vehicle if such overtaking vehicle be a motor vehicle."

This points out that while it is an act of courtesy to move over and give half of the road to someone who wants to pass you, it is also a state law.

Careful and circumspect drivers will demand the right of passing only when they are going at a reasonable rate and find a vehicle in front of them too slow for comfort or safety, points out the Auto Club. The application of this law should be governed in a large sense by general courtesy. It is particularly applicable to touring conditions in some of the Southern California mountains in this vicinity where there are wide spaces left for turn-outs and you find a car behind you going at a more rapid rate than you are, that is an opportunity to pull aside and let the other fellow pass.

As vacation time comes along this is a good road-rule to keep in mind and will make vacation driving more harmonious.

LIFTER FOR ROCKING ARMS
A tool for lifting the rocker arms on overhead valve motors is one which will always find a welcome. Such a tool, handy for both the repair shop and the individual car owner, can easily be made by means of a round metal rod, bent and securely riveted in a handle of either hardwood or metal. By pulling upon the end of the handle, the valve is pressed downward, and the spring is compressed until the rear end of the rocker is clear of the push rod, which may then be removed. This tool will be found useful either for releasing the push rods or testing the valve action.

ATTRACTIVE PILLOW
A very attractive pillow is somewhat oblong in shape and covered with small ruffles of old blue ribbon edged with rose.

City Commissioner at 24, Rolled Himself to Fame With Bayonne Oil Barrels

Patrick J. O'Connell, only twenty-four years old, received the second highest vote in the recent election for city commissioner of Bayonne, N. J., and became director of public safety. O'Connell's father died when he was three years old. As soon as he became old enough he helped to support his mother, two sisters and younger brother by doing odd jobs. Then he became a barrel roller in the Standard Oil Works at Bayonne. He studied law at night and became interested in local politics. It is believed that O'Connell is the youngest man in the country to hold a similar city office.

The main reasons for taking over the line were given as follows: (1) The company's display of confidence in their car by the mileage basis and guarantee plan; (2) The fact that the Fisher body corporation is building a $2,000,000 plant at Pontiac for the exclusive manufacture of Oakland bodies; (3) A product of General Motors—as to whose permanence and responsibility there is not the slightest doubt; (4) Belief that the company is living up to its slogan to build "the finest light six in the world." (5) Knowledge of the car engendered confidence that it can be sold with enthusiasm in that it will return better than dollar for dollar value.

These reasons are interesting in that they are the old analysis of a business man who has had more than a quarter of a century experience in merchandising motor cars.

MISSIONS ARE MECCA FOR TOURISTS OF CALIFORNIA

The missions of Southern California, the remains of which are a lure to the army of tourists that annually visit the southland, were the first real milestones in the march of civilization on the Pacific coast. It was the zealous and hardy padre, working north from Mexico in the cause of civilization and Christianity, who discovered the possibilities of this land of plenty, and who through decades of patient endeavor laid the foundations of an empire.

The peaceful and indolent Indians were baptized and taught the ways of industry, missions and homes of adobe were built by them under the able direction of the mission fathers; vineyards and fields were planted and harvests garnered; the Spanish flag followed the fathers, the land was divided into immense grants and populated by the dons, and every one prospered, so the story goes.

When lemons become dry, immerse them in cold water. They will soon become quite soft and ready to use.

NEW DISTRIBUTOR IN NORTH FOR OAKLAND

After 29 years of buying and selling motor cars, the J. W. Leavitt & Co., San Francisco, has taken over the distributorship of the Oakland car for Northern California—after having practically the pick of the field of motor cars due to their long experience and Mr. Leavitt's high reputation of integrity during his long years in business.

Mr. Leavitt visited the Oakland factories at Pontiac, May 2, to arrange for cars with G. J. Nepler, general sales manager, and reported that the present rainy season on the Pacific coast is a godsend, which will make for better crops and even bigger business during the summer and fall.

When taking over the distribution of Oakland cars Mr. Leavitt went on record with an endorsement that sums up a business man's reason for taking over the line. In a frank statement he explained that a car to interest him must be mighty good.

The main reasons for taking over the line were given as follows: (1) The company's display of confidence in their car by the mileage basis and guarantee plan; (2) The fact that the Fisher body corporation is building a $2,000,000 plant at Pontiac for the exclusive manufacture of Oakland bodies; (3) A product of General Motors—as to whose permanence and responsibility there is not the slightest doubt; (4) Belief that the company is living up to its slogan to build "the finest light six in the world." (5) Knowledge of the car engendered confidence that it can be sold with enthusiasm in that it will return better than dollar for dollar value.

These reasons are interesting in that they are the old analysis of a business man who has had more than a quarter of a century experience in merchandising motor cars.

Stumps was shaving himself when he made a slight cut on the end of his nose. He called to his wife for sticking plaster and was told to look in her sewing basket. At the office every one who entered his sanctum smiled.

Considerably annoyed, he asked his partner if there was anything wrong with his appearance. "I should say there is," was the reply. "What's on your nose?" "Sticking plaster."

"No," said the other, "it is the label from a spool of cotton and it says: 'Warranted 300 yards.'"

Well smear all woodwork which has to be painted with lime water, which can be obtained at any drugstore. Let dry, and then paint. The paint will dry in half the time. Put brush in water when finished. It will be quite soft for next day.

SHOP MONDAY IS ADVICE OF FERBER'S

C. H. McBurney, Manager
Says Second Monday
Doubled Sales of First

"Advertising on Saturdays has proven to us already, during our short sojourn in Glendale, that Monday's trade can be doubled by this means," said C. H. McBurney, manager of Ferber's department store, 108 South Brand Boulevard.

"We advertised in the Press last Saturday, and our business was double, the following Monday, the amount of the preceding Monday. "We are offering on this special shopping page, a special quality of voiles at a price that will enable every woman to buy a new summer dress for less. Bungalow aprons, utility gingham, bath towels, both large and small, curtain scrim, pi-quet sheets, anisook or crepe night gowns, all will be listed, with other special offers, on this shopping page." "If the bulk of shopping can be arranged to fall upon a Monday, I believe that it will hold great influence in getting the merchants to agree to giving their employees Saturday afternoons off."

Old muslin curtains may be washed, cut into squares and used for tying up cauliflowers and asparagus for cooking.

GUARANTEE PAINT FOR SAFETY, FIRST

M. Alexander of Harry
Moore Co., Tells Reasons
For Good Surfacing

"When buying paint," said M. Alexander, of the Harry Moore Co. Inc., "the purchaser should remember that paint that carries a guarantee usually means a saving of money in the end, for not only is there the guarantee, but the fact remains that the guaranteed paint at least the line we carry, will cover twice the area per gallon that the non-guarantee paint does."

"Our paints are offered at a standard price. The paint manufacturers establish the price, and in every retail store, the prices are the same. In examining the label of paints, it will also be found to invariably be the case that the non-guarantee paint carries no firm name."

"It is not advisable to risk a non-guarantee paint on the house or automobile, for the reason that if the paint begins to peel away from the surface, it is an expensive proposition to re-surface it, and make it look as it would have, had the high grade paint been applied in the first place."

"Therefore, in placing our advertising for buyers to read in the Daily Press, in order to be guided in their Monday shopping, we are making it known that we carry a standard line of goods, not only paints, but varnishes and other goods necessary in this business."

Present a small boy with a watch and he'll have the time of his life.

Let us help you
select the right gift

Graduation gifts are constant reminders of an unusual occasion.

One should select such gifts with care and deliberation. In most instances suitable inscriptions must be engraved upon them. In others, perhaps, they must be forwarded to distant points to the happy recipient.

Our suggestion, that you give an Elgin Watch on such an occasion, is prompted by the knowledge that such a gift will endure and serve as a happy reminder of the occasion for many years. Come in. The services of this gift store are yours to enjoy.

A Stroll Through Jensen Building, Then Over to M. & L. and Ferbers

Mrs. G. B. Leavens of Gingham Shoppe Tells Fashion Indications

(By MRS. M. L. BEARD)
Spring is in the air. June brides and the sweet girl graduates! All of which means strenuous shopping days. Both comfort and pleasure can really be combined with shopping. At least Ann and I found it to be so when we happened in Jensen's drug store the other day. The cool and inviting atmosphere seemed a veritable haven after the sunshine on the street.

The real point of interest about which everyone revolved was the fountain; here we were served with the most delicious frozen dainties. Ann and I took note of the exquisite harmony both in the furnishings and quality of service here. From the complete line of toilet goods any of which would please millinery of the most fastidious taste, we selected just the articles needed for the bride.

Last, but not least, you should try Jensen's candies. We did. Delicious! If you want to make your relatives and friends happy during industrial week, take them there for lunch.

While strolling through the delightful promenade which seemed to transport us into the realms of Egypt, we found just the very place we were looking for. A floral shoppe—where we could purchase choice flowers for the June wedding. We ordered wreaths for decoration Day when they make up in the most artistic way. Isn't it nice to know where to go to purchase flowers for all occasions. "The Little Flower Market" excels.

We next turned our attention to the Beauty Shoppe on the second floor which Mary, Jane and all our friends had been talking about. On entering we noticed the same quiet atmosphere which pervades the whole place.

Right here I want to say that even the allurements of youth, as well as the charm of maturity, would be benefitted by the use of Princess Toilet Creams which they carry; also there is a nice line of Bentley novelties.

After trying these special Radium Packs we decided there was no reason under the sun why any woman should have that sun-spotted complexion. The best is none too good for us, so don't forget to try it. June roses and a radiant glow of health in our cheeks are our rightful heritage.

Just now all the lassies and laddies are interested in the new M. & L. Bootery. It was the artistic window display that did it. Then the quality, style and price meet with unusual approval.

Whether you are in need of new boots or not it will pay you to see their stock. All the new shades are there in any size you want. And what woman or girl is it who does not want classy footwear? You will find the best quality of hosiery to match any shade of shoes. Whenever you go, you are bound to come away satisfied.

Give real values, and a woman will quickly show her appreciation with staunch patronage. With a house and family and her cooking problem, why need she bother about making the kiddies' clothes when Ferber's has them priced just a little below anyone else.

When she is ready for that long anticipated vacation, Ferber has just the things the family will need for hiking and camping—sweaters, khaki things, house dresses, aprons. And—well, you'll just have to go and see them and note just how cheap Ferber is selling.

"Working today for tomorrow," means treating customers right today and they will return to morrow.

That is just what Ferber is doing, and his increasing business speaks for itself.
